

Meet Your Candidates Wednesday Night!

Voters of this area will get a first-hand look at the candidates next Wednesday night at 8 when they appear on the platform at the Alcalanes High School gymnasium under the sponsorship of The Sun.

"The Debate of the Issues" will be moderated by Herman Silverman, publisher of The Sun, and will be open to the public without charge. After making the introductory remarks, he will introduce the candidates and they will have their opportunity to speak.

In keeping with its policy of previous candidate discussion programs, The Sun will provide all members of the audience with slips of paper on which questions may be written. Only questions submitted in writing will be taken up by the participants.

ALTHOUGH all candidates of the area have been invited to attend and air their views, the four men seeking election to the assembly have indicated they will not participate, since each of them is unopposed in seeking party nomination.

Assemblyman Jerry Waldie of the 10th district has the Democratic nomination cinched, while the only Republican candidate is David Fisher of Pleasant Hill. Assemblyman John Knox has a similar advantage in the 11th district, with no Democratic opponents and a lone Republican prospect, John Anderson of Orinda.

Top interest locally seems to be the sheriff race with four candidates. All of them have indicated they will appear and answer questions at The Sun's "Debate of the Issues" Wednesday night.

BATTING for the sheriff's post are the incumbent, Walt Young of Lafayette, Vernon Conway of Concord, Allen Rhodes of Danville and Harry Brown of Alamo.

Two men who are fighting for the supervisorial post in the third district will be on the platform. Thomas Coll, the incumbent, is opposed by the man he unseated four years ago, Ray Taylor. Taylor held the post four terms.

Two candidates are in the race for treasurer-tax collector. They are Emmett Hitchcock, incumbent, and Byron Clark of Concord.

The running verbal battle between Charles Weidner and Harold E. Mutnick for the Democratic nomination in the congressional race should add extra excitement to Wednesday night's open forum session at Alcalanes gym.

Weidner received the backing of the Democratic clubs of the district at a caucus early in the spring, but Mutnick has denied that this means endorsement by the Democratic leaders. The winner of the party nomination will oppose Republican incumbent John Baldwin.

MANY of the races are uncontested this year in Contra Costa County, including: Elwin Wanaka, incumbent assessor; Howard McNamer, incumbent auditor; Walter Paasch, incumbent clerk-recorder; L. H. Fraser, coroner-public administrator, and John Nejedly, district attorney.

After the participating candidates are introduced by Silverman, they will each give a brief speech, telling their aims and platforms, followed by a question and answer period.

In addition to the appearance of the contestants for office there will be a discussion of the proposed park bonds, amounting to $7½ million, with both the opponents and proponents having an opportunity to speak. "This is a non-partisan meeting and open to the public without charge," pointed out publisher Silverman. "We hope everyone will take advantage of this opportunity to quiz the candidates."

A Conservative Bookshop Opens Its Door to All

By GEORGE COLBURN

One woman's attempt to popularize the political creed of the Conservative in this area has been to open a book store in Lafayette.

The fact became very clear this week to many Lafayette residents.

This particular store, called the Freedom Bookshop, has been in our midst for five months now, although most people did not realize it until Tuesday.

According to Marilyn Thibodeaux, manager, the Freedom Bookshop is the sole effort of Mrs. Susan Richardson, wife of Dr. John Richardson of Orinda.

THE REALITY of the conservative-only book store, some of its purposes and some of its political ideas were revealed to local residents who received "flyers" in the mail Tuesday.

The flyers were invitations to an open house planned by the bookshop, tomorrow from 9 to 5, but some of the conservative ideology poured out in the invitation.

Approximately 3000 flyers were sent to residents of Lafayette—meaning that almost every home received one.

The flyers pointed out, in no uncertain terms, just what Mrs. Richardson and the Freedom Bookshop stand for.

The strong conservative feeling on three matters were listed under a title of "Did You Know?" Point one claimed that the U.S. signed a treaty with the United Nations to give up military supplies, armed forces and atomic weapons to the U.S.

POINT TWO claimed there is an UNESCO treaty requiring complete control of our educational system which awaits ratification by our Senate.

Point three claims that the federal firearms act take away the constitutional right of the people to keep and bear arms and that the ANFUSO bill would enforce that law.

In conclusion, the flyer, written by one of Mrs. Richardson's co-workers, stated "the complete tragedy is that the American people are being made ready to accept what 10 years ago they would not have considered even possible."

However through her Freedom Bookshop, Mrs. Richardson is attempting "to make people aware of the Communist conspiracy."

Most books in the bookshop cannot be obtained in the public library, she said.

The operation of the bookshop is strictly a private venture by Mrs. Richardson. Miss Thibodeaux said that profit wasn't a purpose of the store.

MRS. RICHARDSON purchases the books, places them on sale in the public interest, she pointed out.

And purchasing the books isn't an easy matter either as many publishing houses do not carry them, she said.

The young store manager stated that all books in the store are "anti-communist only."

You can't buy a best-seller in The Freedom Bookshop, but there are 77 different kinds of books to choose from as well as pamphlets, newspapers and various other forms of literature.

Tapes by conservative stalwarts and the original version of the film "Operation Abolition" are also available at the book shop.

A COMFORTABLE reading room is offered in the small store where a person may browse if he or she chooses.

And Friday mornings a study group, organized by Mrs. Richardson, meets to talk over current events, write letters and listen to speakers.

Through the book shop, Mrs. Richardson hopes to bring more people into the group.

Although the book store is not politically affiliated with any party or candidate, they are backing Joseph Shell for governor, Max Rafferty for superintendent of education.

Books about and by the John Birch Society are carried by the book store, although they are not affiliated with the group, Miss Thibodeaux claimed.

A LARGE banner in the front window of the store proclaims "American Opinion Library" which is on sale.

The books, called the "Twelve Candles," in this "library" carry much of the philosophy of the ultra-conservative John Birch Society.

However, all books in the store are listed in just one category—"anti-communist and patriotic"—and the sole person who decides what will be offered is Mrs. Richardson, according to the manager.

Miss Thibodeaux said the local store is the second such conservative bookshop to be opened in the Bay Area, but a trend for more is developing in California.

ACTUALLY the Lafayette store is an offshoot of a like-named one in San Jose operated by William Schmitt.

Mrs. Richardson is an acquaintance of Schmitt, according to Miss Thibodeaux.

Although their presence was not well-known until this week, a steady business has been quite good, according to the manager.

The flyers were sent out with the hope that many new customers will be interested enough to pay a visit to the store tomorrow.

For the first 100 customers, there will be gift flags. Coffee and cookies will be served all day.

Heated Differences Over Pittman Apts.

Three big issues concerning Orinda property will come before the county boards Tuesday at public hearings.

A large crowd, including representatives of the school district and civic groups, is expected at the meeting before the planning commission. It will be at the Hall of Records, Martinez, at 8 p.m.

The planners will take under consideration two issues: the G&L Corporation's subdivision map and realtor Marion Pittman's request to rezone one acre next to the Masonic Auditorium on Altamira Road. It is the latter over which the feelings run high.

AT 2:15 P.M., the Board of Supervisors will rule on G&L's request to rezone 365 acres in the Happy Valley-Sleepy Hollow area from general agricultural (R-20) to single family residential (R-40). The planners have previously unanimously recommended this. It is expected that the board will officially rule to support the planners' recommendation. There is no apparent objection to the rezoning, which community representatives said calls for large lots and low density zoning, in compliance with the Orinda General Plan.

Textbooks--A Panel But No Discussion

Although four panelists were ready to discuss the matter, the Contra Costa Junior College District governors Monday night decided that the question of "inadequate textbooks" would not be retained on the agenda.

When board chairman William Kretzmer said the textbooks under fire should be considered after the current textbook re-evaluation process, District Superintendent Drummond McCunn expressed strong disappointment.

"At the last board meeting, you asked six times that the question of texts be placed on the agenda," said McCunn.

"I MOVED forward in good faith preparing the presentation," McCunn declared.

McCunn had arranged for discussion of the textbooks by four panelists—George Crocker, a San Francisco attorney; George Mardician, San Francisco restaurateur; Mrs. Lillian Wilt of Benicia and Frank Iszak, a former Hungarian freedom fighter.

Kretzmer stated firmly that these matters should be referred to an executive session, scheduled for last night after The Sun went to press.

The board of governors were also scheduled to consider a request that college director Karl Drexel's one-year contract not be renewed.

THE REQUEST had been made by a group called "Taxpayers and Parents Associated for Better Education," which was represented by attorney Edward Heavy.

Heavy also asked that the question of Drexel's tenure also be discussed in public, but Kretzmer ruled against any further discussion of the subject, leaving it for the executive session.

The question of the adequacy of certain district textbooks was revived recently when McCunn told a Sun editor that he believes that the district is in danger of losing $1 million in state aid next year due to violation of the state education code pertaining to textbooks.

Creative Workshop To Meet at Church

Tomorrow, from 1:30-3:30 p.m., the creative workshop will meet in fellowship hall of Orinda Community Church.

"Children may choose their activity at this last workshop before vacation," said Dorothy Davis, director.

Dead-end Parking Is More Orderly

Commuters who park at the dead end of Orinda Way at the cloverleaf have been parking in the stalls painted by the street department early this month.

Ken Courtright, outgoing president of the Chamber of Commerce, and John Ogden, chairman of the parking committee, wish to express their appreciation to the car owners for the orderly manner in which they complied with the regulation.

Assoc. Answers Editorial

(ED'S NOTE: Following is a statement of the board of directors of the Orinda Association regarding The Sun's editorial, "Let's Buy the Land." It advocated action in regard to the option the association has to buy 6¼ acres adjacent to their present 10 acres, for $21,840. The option expires May, 1963.)

"The board of directors appreciates the cooperation and interest of The Sun in this property, as shown by its front page editorial advocating a public subscription to buy additional optioned land.

"The Sun's point of view will certainly be taken into consideration but we believe there are many aspects to the over-all development of the land to be worked out before it is advisable to approach the public for funds.

"We propose to resolve these many aspects in a logical and orderly sequence.

"We assure the community that we do not plan to lose the optioned property through inattentive default.

"While we look forward to the Sun's continuing support and cooperation, we do not encourage a public subscription campaign at this time."

Santa Maria Women's Guild Has Benefit

The Santa Maria Women's Guild had their annual spring bridge luncheon at the Orinda Country Club Wednesday.

Co-chairmen of arrangements were Mrs. P. C. Reynolds and Mrs. J. H. Gallagher. They were assisted by Mrs. G. E. Noickolai, reservations; Mrs. Robert Rushforth, guild president, and others.

Robbery Suspect Flees From Mental Ward

A burglary suspect considered to be "extremely dangerous" escaped from the psychiatric ward of the county hospital Tuesday afternoon and was still at large as The Sun went to press.

Robert Russell Johnston, 18, of 1384 Oakland Boulevard, Walnut Creek, was picked up by police a week ago for allegedly breaking into a cigarette vending machine in a Walnut Creek apartment house.

Following his arrest, Johnston was put under observation in "J" Ward at the hospital because of his strange behavior. There with the aid of two youthful visitors, he made his unauthorized exit.

Meanwhile, further investigation by Walnut Creek Police Captain Frank R. Thompson, implicated Johnston in several other recent robberies in mid-county, some dating back a year and a half.

Unconfirmed reports placed him in the Lafayette area Wednesday night.

The escaped suspect is described as five feet six inches, 145 pounds, brown hair and eyes, with a half-inch scar on the index finger of his right hand.

He may be driving a blue 1957 station wagon.

Park Bond Discussion On Tuesday

Duane Mattison, staging what has amounted to almost a one-man speaking campaign on behalf of the $7¼ million bond issue for Contra Costa County park expansion, will make three appearances in this area during the next two weeks.

Mattison, county park director, will speak at the Orinda School at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The following night at 8 he will bring the drive to the Lafayette School.

He winds up the tour on May 31 when he addresses a public gathering in Walnut Creek Elementary School's multi-purpose room at 8 p.m.

"If our campaign succeeds it will be through neighbor talking to neighbor and friend to friend," said Mattison yesterday.

Narrow Escape in Kaiser Plane Crash

Two men from Orinda and from Lafayette were among the six East Bay executives narrowly escaping injury when their twin engine DC3 plane, owned by Kaiser Industries, crashed Monday in Montana.

Aboard the craft were Edward H. Kendall and Frederick Bauer. Kendall lives at 1160 Vallejo Court, Lafayette. He is sales manager for Kaiser Permanente Cement Company.

New Study Of Parks Is Urged

A comprehensive study of all land in Contra Costa County now publicly held and suitable for park and recreation use for the purpose of developing new park areas was suggested this week by Robert Kahn of Orinda, a business consultant who has been a leader in opposing the proposed $7.5 million county park bond issue.

Kahn said the study should have the cooperation and participation of the officials of Contra Costa and Alameda counties, East Bay Municipal Utility District, East Bay Regional Park District and "various associations interested in park development."

Kahn has criticized the outright purchase of park sites for some $2.5 million, advocating instead arranging lease or "use" agreements with EBMUD for its suitable park lands.

HE SAID, "This study should be made by qualified persons and should be made independently of any of the existing groups."

"If the parties concerned do not feel warranted in contributing funds to finance such a study, then it would be necessary to raise this fund by other means and from private sources."

"I personally would undertake to assist in the raising of funds for such a study," said Kahn.

Kahn said county park director Duane Mattison wants to "... develop thousands of acres of park separated from a major existing regional park by a single wedge of a highway."

"YET HE never discussed them when considering the park facilities available to the residents of this area..."

Kahn also said he believes Contra Costa County has not taken the initiative in asking EBMUD for "lease," "use" or "joint tenancy" agreements in lieu of purchasing land which is now labeled for sale by EBMUD since they are considered "surplus."

Civic Affairs Group to Meet

There will be a meeting of the civic affairs committee of the Orinda Association on Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Orinda School. The speaker will be Duane Mattison, who will discuss the proposed $7,500,000 bond issue for parks and recreation. In addition to the speaker, the meeting will include other business affairs of the committee.

MacArthur Freeway No Help to Area Commuters

Opening of the first section of the MacArthur Freeway in Oakland Tuesday may have alleviated traffic problems in the East Bay city but its effect upon Contra Costa County motorists was almost negligible.

That at least was the reaction two days after the new freeway had been opened—which was not a new opinion since engineers had promised no local relief from the new highway link for speeding east and west traffic in Oakland.

"It was like loosening your belt a notch when your pants are too tight," one commuter commented. "There's action without relief."

Joseph P. Sinclair, assistant state highway engineer in charge of the Bay Area district, declared the initial section of MacArthur freeway is not intended for use by Contra Costa County commuters.

"FULL RELIEF will be provided with the construction of the Grove-Shafter Freeway which will extend on a north-south line from the Nimitz Freeway to the Caldecott Tunnel," Sinclair pointed out, adding that this project would have a full interchange with the MacArthur Freeway.

The entire future of local commuters continues to hinge on construction of the new tunnel, Sinclair indicated. He said bids would soon be called for to provide a new freeway from the tunnel to Orinda.

The state engineer said the Division of Highways plans to Sign Found! Cows Cud Not Care Less!

Once again, the Orinda Association land is signless.

And it will remain so, according to the board of directors, unless there is substantial demand for the erection of a new sign.

The original sign, erected by the board as a public service to identify the association's ten acres on Camino Pablo, adjacent to the crossroads, was stolen. It was found this week, too defaced for it to be used again.

The prank sign reading "Cows Want Pasture" was removed by the board.

"We do not feel that it is wise to risk further expenditure of funds for this purpose," Eric Nielsen said. The original sign cost $28.

As for the cows grazing peacefully on the land—they consider it to be a moot point.

Ten Finger Exercise . . .

ONLY ON THURSDAY: Jean Henderson, The Inimitable of course, is gallivanting around Europe & postaled friend Charlotte Chapple thusly this week—"Dear M. W. . . I'm ashamed to come home. The Sewers are open only on Thursday & I found out too late. Forgive me, Jean."

Dick Tracy would decipher that message this way—Jean will appear in the cast of Sweeney's Mad woman of Chamois (shy-o) at the Community Church June Luncheon in which Charlotte plays the Mad Woman. Thus the M.W. What Jean promised Lid, Wirtabel & others of the cast, was that she would survey first-hand the famous thousand-year old Sewers of Paris which is the setting for the play. (Oh, Dear!)

Well, best to not worry. Just postal Jean back that if the Sewers have been there a thousand yrs. she can catch them on her next trip. But I wouldn't.

EVER WONDER what it is that gives Jean Mann, Orinda teacher & mother of two grown sons, that wonderful All-American Girl look although she's over 25? We finally found out: ONE of her secrets. The tall posture-perfect pretty woman takes a walk daily but not the kind WE usually take, down the hill & back for a spin w/Fido. Oh, no! She & Tom, who are avid Sierra Club climbers & hikers, do the two-miler around these hilly parts nightly & now we'll ALL be bumping into one another taking that evening stroll!

ONE WEARY MOTHER has labeled the month—"The Harried Month of May" & is it any wonder? Fathers & teachers, too, are complaining & mothers are wilting at the scheduled events of the past two weeks, most of them emanating from school.

Just for kicks, let's list a few . . . Open House, one two or three times around depending how many children you have & where . . . Summer League practice & games commencing . . . Spring Music Festival two nights in a row, May Day Dance at some schools, followed by Rotary Field Day, Talent Show production, PE Carnival coming up. Add to this dance recital time, Parents Club Jamboree including student participation, Confirmation time for some, scout activities, music lessons, etc.

No Homework, naturally, because during this period the children are being given SRA tests . . . Don't take their grades too seriously!

As one Mom astutely put it—"Mine are so tired they couldn't even mark a game of Bingo right!" For parents & children who have any energy left, there's the happy thought of Orinda School's Family Picnic on Memorial Day at Tilden Park. It kind of reminds of that old tired joke about the father with a carful of kids who was asked—"Is that your family—or is it a picnic?" "It's my family alright, but it's NO picnic!"

Even the kids want a recession to relax & just stay home . . . Orinda went berserk this month & wouldn't the wise thing be to stagger these dates to avoid unnecessary stress & strain?

Our Town, U.S.A. . . .

LAST WEEKEND, Our Town like an American cover by Norman Rockwell . . . The youngsters relayed & roared at Rotary Field Day, parlayed a ticket into a prize or a plush animal at the PPer Carnival . . . or joined in the dedication ceremony for the new Post Office . . . honoring our dutiful Postmistress Laura Mallory who wore a white orchid corsage pinned to an Alice Blue Gown & basked in the sunshine of the tribute offered her . . . Over the mike we heard "the Post Office is truly her Mother's Day Gift" . . . (Well, that IS an improvement over a can opener!)

ROWS OF HARDWOOD CHAIRS were filled with townspeople but from the back, we couldn't identify any heads but Au Polaczek's . . . On the rostrum, Ken Courtright, Bee Betz, Jack Buchter looked as pleased as Laura & a trio of white-helmeted Shore Patrolmen lent an official air to the afternoon as did the Kennedy posters, the Republican ladies, the Miramonte band & the red, white & blue of our flying American flag.

On the sidelines we saw Bradshaw Harrison, well-known stamp-man, wearing his trademark navy blue beret . . . Helen Ernest Drews, the Doug Watkinses . . . Ruth Jacobus, sporting a saucy straw breton, plugging Pat Nixon's reception in Richmond (today) & chatting w/Virginia Fish (who'll champ for Baldwin) & Liz Folliard . . . Bill & Kay Marshall taking in the speeches. Bill had come down to "mail a letter" but had to mail it up the street in the mailbox instead.

A ribbon across the P.O.'s glass doors . . . Shelley Rieger watching the program from the front seat in the big red fire truck . . . The Inland Valley Pep Band sporting stripe-banded straw skimmers, their polished instruments gleaming in the sun . . . Ann Stiltner riding up on her horse, a baby in a stroller, a boy on his bike, a shopper w/her arms full of groceries, Our Town saying welcome to its new Post Office.

GOOSE BUMPS & Lumps in the Throat when the 6th annual Spring Music Festival got off to a start w/ the Star Spangled Banner . . . Miramonte's Gym filled to overflowing. The All-district chorus & orchestras singing us the best with the wonderful music from Oklahoma!

The Jack Eldridges perusing their programs . . . The Rudy Grahs in front row seats w/Mary wearing a dashing red & white plaid country tweed . . . Zennie Roberts w/word that she's doing PublRel for Children's Hospital branches, working out of the hospital which she loves . . . Maude & Martin White waving THEIRS!

EVERYTHING UP TO DATE: w/a version of Git Along Little Doggie in what sounded like cha-cha rhythm . . . The contagious beat of Surrey With Fringe on Top causing one tot to stand up making like a maestro Pendleton or Meeder . . . Fascinating to watch choral directors Diane Kubly & Robert Luoma leading the songs like two birds in simultaneous flight . . . A wave of applause & laughter for the slightly off-key notes of "Poor Jud Is Dead."

Fran Diricks in a bright red suit searching for her singer . . . Charles Rosenthal swept up in the exciting mob . . . Agnes & Del Kay, the Bud Sages . . . Evie Roberts saying she's ten times busier w/Kathy's activities than she was w/all three other children combined . . .

ONE YOUNG MAN falling asleep w/his mouth wide open, coming to life after a sound poke from the boy sitting next to him . . . Lots of well-scrubbed bow-tied boys in Lucky's later to get their licks of icecream bars . . . Jane Brobeck seeking out the package-cones for an at-home treat.

COUNTRY CLOTHESLINE, Jr. style—The Mel Carbone's darling dottie Tricia looking tres adorable in a daffodil-yellow smock-styled frock embroidered w/kitty cats & sporting a low wide belt in back. Grandma Mary Tilden shopped for the dress in Rome during recent travels.

AUTHOR Prentiss Combs had made another PostSatEvePost story sale . . . Britain's Crown Jewels, in a first-trip to this side of the bay, are featured in the window of Orinda Travel Service located in Safeway Village Shops. Worth a see! Exact & perfect replicas of The Royal Sceptre, the Imperial State Crown & Queen Mary's Crown now kept in the Tower of London.

Pine Grove's Talent Show a repeat success w/special accolades to Willem Van Mastright's piano playing which was TERRIFIC! Producer-director Don Jesse is not only growing a beard, he's training it to twirl in Van Dyke fashion. When in Europe, you know!

THE YOUNG JAMES DOBEYS have a fitting address—142 Old Adobe Way in Los Gatos. Jean writes she had one foot in Orinda for the longest time but is finally "at home" in Los Gatos. Her brother Thor Smith just made chief of SF's Tourist Bureau.

THE HEADY HAT, a gold straw number trimmed w/one hundred (100) one dollar bills was won by Betty Young at last wed's. Santa Maria benefit bridge-luncheon at Orinda Country Club. Lucky Girl!

MR. AND MRS. LORRIE PATTERSON TEACH CAROL AND EDDIE HOW TO PLAY BRIDGE.

A Family Foursome . . .

"YOU HAVE to get used to them beating you," laugh Lorrie and Ed Patterson, "when you have two youngsters who share your favorite sports." In the Patterson's case, daughter Carol, 14, and son Eddie Jr., 12, are as good (even better, says Mom) at the bridge table as they are competing with their parents on the ski slopes.

The family, who share like interests together, all take active part, too, in community work. Lorrie, co-scout leader of her daughter's Senior Scout Troop No. 204, feels that after years of club and philanthropic work she's "finally come home," that much does she relish her scouting work with the eighth grade girls, who are saving like MAD for a future trip (1965) to one of the International Houses, "The Cabana" in Cunevacca, Mexico.

Lorrie, who has also served as Neighborhood chairman, is a past president of the Orinda Woman's Club, of which she is still an active member, and after her term expires as vice president of Inland Valley Intermediate Parents' Club she'll take up the gavel as president. A charter member of Mayten branch, Children's Hospital, she has gone "associate" since the scout and parent club duties more than fill her time. Ed, who is on the mend after a winter season ankle break while skiing, likes outdoor life and shares this interest as well as baseball with his son Eddie, who is a member of Scout Troop 57. The native-born Patterson schooled at UC (as did wife Lorrie) and is in business for himself as a commercial painting contractor. (This week was an especially busy one for the Pattersons, with daughter Carol, a junior at Inland Valley, receiving her confirmation from his excellency, Bishop Begin at Santa Maria Church last Wednesday evening. Carol, a student of ballet with Winnie Gilmore's School of Dance, will participate in the recital next Friday to benefit Miramonte High School. Natives of 12 years hereabouts, the family lives in their third Orinda home, a very contemporary one on Descanso Drive.

OCCU Has Display In Bank

The Orinda Council for Civic Unity has on display in the Wells Fargo Bank-American Trust Company display window a large pin map of the Orinda area. Each pin on the map locates a home where one or more adults signed the Open Housing Covenant made available to local residents during Brotherhood Week in 1961 by the several sponsoring agencies. Included in the display is a copy of the Open Housing Covenant and the page from the April 14, 1961, edition of the Orinda Sun whereon was published, by permission of the individual signees, the names of 563 residents who as stated in the Open Housing Covenant "bear witness that I am ready to welcome into my neighborhood neighbors on a personal basis without regard to race, color, creed or national origin." This display may be seen from May 16 through 25 at the Orinda bank, according to Mary Grah, Committee for Community Education for the Orinda Council for Civic Unity.

Hats Off To...

Dorothy Jones and Jean Mann, AFS Moms

ROSES, please. American Beauty ones, for Mrs. Thomas (Jean) Mann and Mrs. Shepard (Dorothy) Jones who have enjoyed thoroughly the experience of being the American "Mothers" to an AFS son and daughter respectively.

FAIR-HAired and feminine, Jean is the youthful-looking mother of two grown sons, Tom, 19, a Diablo Valley College student and Perry, 17, a Miramonte senior.

The likable lady, who fell right into the job quite naturally of being "Mom" to Frenchman Jean-Michel Sicre, reflects that the real adjustment was on the part of the young student here in a strange country without family or friends. But becoming a "son" in the Mann's male household went off so smoothly that she can only thank AFS for the experience which has been gratifying to everyone concerned.

The native-born Stockton girl schooled at the former College of Pacific majoring in Home Economics which is the subject she teaches at Inland Valley Intermediate School. Prior to that, the girls at Pine Grove learned their sewing and cooking from her. She and husband Tom who traveled to Europe last year, correspond with Jean-Michel's family in Toulouse, a city near the Pyrenees and will be welcome guests when they, some day, "come to France." The family are Sierra Club members, avid fans of skiing, swimming and are robust hikers and mountain-climbers, sports in which "son Jean-Michel" has joined right in!

TALL, REGAL and distinguished describes Dorothy Jones, attractive mother of Wendy, 21, who just graduated from Secretarial College and Linda, 18, a Miramonte senior as well as "Mom" to the delightfully Svenske Elisabeth Davidson who is here from Allingsas near Goteborg.

With husband Shepard and daughters, Dorothy enjoyed an Easter vacation in the Southland showing the completely enthralled Elisabeth the sights of Hollywood, Disneyland, Tijuana and other California points of interest.

SWEET AND EASY, says Dorothy, about taking this "daughter" under her wing for it has been a treat both ways. Here, the Jones girls have a "younger" sister in Elisabeth while home in Sweden Elisabeth is the oldest child. Both gratified families thank American Field Service for the rewarding experience.

Miramonte Mirror

By KITTY MIKA AND ANN LINCOLN

Some of us are beginning to wonder what happened to that beautiful May weather. Maybe we got our months mixed up and this is really February—heaven forbid. Bad weather or not, parties and trips to the beach are still in style.

Off Beat II started off with a bang, or to put it more literally, a bunch of full stomachs. The cause—a progressive dinner at the homes of Ailanthus members for members and their dates. Five o'clock found the couples enjoying salads of every kind. From there, the gang migrated to Carol Goldsmith's where a bevy of main dishes tempted them.

Last, but not least, came desert at Jackie Edenhelm's, and from what we hear Linda Jones' cheese cake stole the show—except maybe for Sue Hancock—for some reason she has a slight aversion to cheese cake. Some of the many stuffing their faces were Jane White and Dave Parish, Pam Pearson and John Reilly, Teri Loveland and Mike Falentine, Linnet Trefts and Steve Miller, Jackie Villata and Skip Spaich, and Sally Farnum and Ron Parks.

At the dance, twisting and Ray Charles prevailed, in between sitting on the porch to cool off. Everyone from freshmen to seniors, plus a few older men, enjoyed the grubby atmosphere and the dancing including, Terry Palmquist and Bob Martin, Sharon Huebschwerlen and Sam De Franco, Hester Harris and Mickey Kazar, Kathy Cole and Doug Dermitt, Ann White and Bob Miller, Mary Baker and Bob Williams, Mike McQuaid and Nancy Englehard, Carol Gilmore and Rich Adair, Katy Jones and Dick Sutcliffe, and Sally Skagge and Steve Baker.

After the dance teens headed in different directions, some for the Claremont, others for private parties. Paul Barrett and Pat Campbell, and Allison Hanford and Dennis McCann, went to KEWB and talked to Casey at the Mike. All in all it was quite a night.

For some reason, John Lackey tries to discourage people from ever owning an MG—why's that John? On the other hand, Bonnie Kent would recommend a Monza to anyone, especially a new yellow one, huh Bonnie?

Sue Nattress turned 18, and what a celebration followed. It included Le Bouff's for dinner, and a visit to "State Fair" afterwards, with Paul McChesney along for the ride.

It seems those Miramonte teachers can't let off, even for a day. The last quarter, senior activities pile up, but the teachers have no pity. It isn't a physiology test, an American Problems essay, or an English term report, it's all three put together. All we can say is something has got to give, and I'm afraid it's going to be the grades.

What comes with the spring has come—sophomore's getting their licenses. The parking lot is really filling up quickly, now that the youngsters are braving the roads. Some of the many who somehow passed the drivers test are Sue Brown, Bob Miller, Anne Cunningham, Chris Conner, and Jeff Ellermyer. Watch out—there are more to come.

Make sure and yet your tickets for AQUANOVA from any Deb member. The dance is May 19, semi-formal, at the Masonic Temple.

Attention all seniors, both boys and girls—This is your Senior Ball so get out there and help with the decorations!!!!

Talent Show Planned by I.V. Interm.

Where there's a will there's a way and the Inland Valley Intermediate Students think they have found the "way" to finance a much needed shaded patio area for their school.

Tickets may be purchased at the door on the evening of the performance. Marvin Tripp is the teacher in charge of this student activity.

The theme used is that of a USO troupe entertaining at an astronaut training camp.

Winners of the preliminary audition will perform May 30 and be eligible for cash prizes.

Judges for the audition will be John Swakhammer, James Beall and Joseph Biskind. All are Bay Area music educators.

Locks, Windows Broken On College Campuses

Two attempts to force entry into college campuses after school hours were investigated by the sheriff's office this week.

Thieves broke a window into the storage room used by the Forty-niner football team at St. Mary's College in Moraga over the weekend. They pried open a medical chest belonging to the club and ransacked it, officers said.

Deputies investigated broken locks on the front and rear doors to the electronics building at Diablo Valley College early Sunday morning. A possible suspect was an 18-year-old student of the college found sleeping in his car nearby. Officers released him after his story about returning from a date had checked out.

The W. Warrens, of 875 Slatter Avenue, Pleasant Hill, reported to the sheriff's office that someone had cut a hole in the screen in a probable attempt to enter their home while they were gone for the weekend. Nothing was reported missing.

'Student Prince'

"Student Prince," second production of the recently formed Contra Costa Musical Theater organization, got off to a rousing start last weekend and is expected to play to capacity houses tonight, tomorrow night and Sunday afternoon.

Presented by a cast of 55 singers in the auditorium of the Mt. Diablo High School, the Sigmund Romberg hit has lost none of its appeal in the local presentation with show-stopping ovations for the rendition of "Serenade" and "The Drinking Song."

Galen Schwab heads the cast in the title role while the romantic interest is provided by Marie Michael of Pleasant Hill who portrays the beer hall waitress, Kathie.

Peggy and Dick Weede are the drama and choral directors of the current production. They carry out a tradition of "family participation" originated with the initial organization of the group by two couples—Mr. and Mrs. Walt Schill and Mr. and Mrs. Grif Duncan.

Millie Hoelscher is the choreographer while Harold Godchaux conducts the special orchestra which brings the Romberg music to life.

A special "champagne gala" was held last Saturday night following the second performance with the cast mingling with the audience in the social affair staged at the Concord Inn.

Christopher Autographs, Handshakes

George Christopher, mayor of San Francisco, will make two appearances in Walnut Creek Saturday—one will be as a literary figure and the other as a political candidate.

At 3 p.m., Christopher will appear with author George Dorsey in autographing copies of the newly published biography, "Christopher of San Francisco," in Capwell's first floor book department.

At 5 p.m., the mayor and his wife will attend a reception at the Walnut Creek Elks Club, sponsored by the Diablo Valley Republican Assembly and the Walnut Creek Young Republicans.

County Welfare Grants Decreasing; But Construction Strikes May Add To Costs As Workers Seek Help

A 42 per cent drop in welfare grants last month reflected a major improvement in the county's job situation, Social Service Director William G. Golden told the Board of Supervisors Tuesday.

Unfortunately, he added, these gains may be wiped out by the current construction strike. Applications for aid are already being received and processed from construction workers out of work.

The supervisors approved a start on the proposed demonstration project to enable intensive casework to be done in the welfare program where rehabilitation is possible. The study, financed by state and federal funds, was suggested last week.

The board also approved several changes in the reimbursement policy for persons receiving the county-financed general assistance funds.

A SERIES of resolutions setting a policy of endorsement of future programs in county departments where funds are provided from the outside were approved by the supervisors.

While the general assistance program grants dropped 34.9 below April of 1961, Golden said the aid to needy children expenses rose 8 per cent above

Port Chicago 'Battle' to Top Armed Forces Events

Marines of the Naval Ammunition Depot, Concord, and Bay Marine Reservists will stage a mock assault on enemy positions Saturday at 3 p.m. Armed Forces Day, on the parade grounds of Port Chicago.

With a narrator providing a running commentary, artillery batteries will move into position to support the attack as assault troops move out against the strongly fortified positions.

Using blank shells and small demolition charges, and assisted by naval attack aircraft, the Marines will proceed to reduce the enemy strong points.

The mock battle will be made even more realistic by a simulated casualty evacuation by helicopter and a demonstration of combat first aid by Navy corpsmen attached to the rifle family.

Civil Service Is Given Grand Jury Endorsement

Although the county's civil service ordinance was adopted back in 1944, it is a sound law and it should be continued to "avoid the return of the political spoils system," according to the annual report issued this week by the Civil Service Committee of the Grand Jury.

The group recommended that several changes be submitted to voters soon to streamline the administrative functions of the civil service commission.

"The personnel employed under civil service are honest and loyal, qualified, work diligently and do a good job of operating our county government," it said.

TOO MANY administrative functions that could be handled by their personnel staff are burdening the commission, said the committee headed by chairman Philip S. Luke.

In most cases, the commission rubber stamps the actions anyway, but the time consumed is unnecessary, the jury reported. Personnel department should be allowed to handle routine items without the commission's approval, it said.

After stating that dissension exists within the system, the report said:

"Careful consideration of all data proved only one thing—namely, that the usual personal and political rivalries of life exist, which is part of our democratic way of life."

Moraga Memo

By JANE PUTNAM

Off to Kindergarten He Will Go

Teary-eyed mothers will register their young for kindergarten at Donald L. Rheem School next Thursday and Friday. It is a wrench when the little fellows unhand the apron strings.

One mother in line will be hysterical with happiness. It'll be me. I'll be registering Mark, our five-year-old teenager who's been ready for kindergarten (or Harvard) for four years.

His sister will be a sophomore in college; his brother, a junior in college. Rheem Principal Robert Trask says, "... In a few families there are doubts about sending a child to kindergarten." There is not one shred of doubt in our family, Sir. "Kindergarten ... is usually a wonderful, awakening experience in most families," Trask said. Man! He can say that again.

A through N register Thursday. O through Z register Friday. And I'll be in line P'fore ya!

MORAGA HORSEMEN'S ASSOCIATION, Inc. will have their big show Sunday from 8 a.m. until it's over. More than 100 junior horsemen, 17 years and under, have made entries. The association is a member of the American Horse Show Association, and will conduct events according to the AHSA rules. There will be an AHSA medal class: Stock Saddle Seat.

Among the excellent local equestrians who will show are: Connie and Marsha Sawyer; Susan Pogliero; Susan Bonds; John and Marlene Huff; Bessy Thune; Candy Kolkhorst; Barry McLeod; Patty Jo Cottle; Darylyn Ann Sieck; Marilyn Francis; Peggy and Suzie Coffin; Therese, Jackie and Dianna Carr.

The public is invited to attend, free, this colorful spectacle. The place: 1084 Bolinger Canyon Road, up the canyon on the north side of St. Mary's College. A sports car is recommended for the twisty, narrow road. Come early and stay late—refreshments (including dinner) will be available.

HOW HIGH the fence that Lew Blodgett is putting around the driving range at Carroll Country Club. It seems that stray golf balls have knocked off tomato blossoms, ears of corn, broken windows, and conked honkers in the environs of the range. For the latter, William Orland is suing the club for $3500. The claims that his prize geese were done in by golf balls.

The Carroll pool opened Tuesday. Members "oohed" and kersplashed.

It isn't too late to make reservations for the spring party Friday night.

THE LOCAL 4-H CLUB held an open house at Canyon School Tuesday night to show the public what they are doing and what they plan to do. Officers acting as hosts and hostesses were: Grant Engle, president; Chris Price, vice-president; Lorraine Ellison, secretary; Don Coffin, treasurer; Kitty Lynch, refreshments; and Pierre Reiter, sergeant at arms. Marilyn (Mrs. Robert) Brooks, wife of the Miramonte P.E. coach, is the community leader for the group.

Biology teachers Davis and Heron and a University of California student teacher, Marian Hunt, took two busloads of biology students on a tour through the Canyon, Orinda and Mt. Diablo area during the week.

Barbara Bedayne's bird class met in Canyon Monday morning. Some final nature notes: a wildcat was spotted in Canyon early in the week. And not too long ago, some St. Mary's office workers came face to face with a mountain lion ... relax, though. Dr. Campbell of the college says that there is no reason to shoot mountain lions. They feed on sick deer. And won't even touch a sick sick sick deer.

NEWCOMERS CLUB will hold a dinner-dance on May 26 at the Concord Inn, 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Robert Reinecke is chairman. The dance will replace the regular meeting. Social affairs, such as this, are open to all members and prospective members. About 30 couples are expected to attend this dance.

The Moraga Newcomers Club is a strictly social organization. Anyone interested in becoming better acquainted with her community should contact Mrs. Richard Avery, 376-4173 or Mrs. Vincent F. Keilman, 376-4803.

A NEAR PLACE to go for a family picnic (for a nominal fee) is Tillie and Jim Lucas' Wildwood Acres Resort. Opened earlier this month, it features swimming, dancing, games, picnicking and barbecue pits. For scenic beauty, it rivals the high Sierra; and is only three miles from St. Mary's ... 3 Monte Vista, Orinda.

FREE and open to the public every day is the Keith Art Gallery on the St. Mary's campus. Sculpture in wood by David Clay Jones is now being featured. (And no, next month will not be sculpture in clay by David Wood Jones.) The gallery is open from 1 to 4 p.m. daily, and by appointment.

PRIVATE EAR. Heard that a gent named John Marshall, an Arizona inventor, was talking about putting a trailer park in Moraga area. He was discouraged by a gentleman in the park department—for which we thank the gentleman in the park department.

Also heard that a couple made a pilgrimage all the way from San Francisco in their Cad to the two-room schoolhouse in Canyon which Ruby Ruth Beers rules. (See Gladys Shally's feature in today's Sun.) Seems that the man saw the school documented on channel 2; and wanted to enroll his young daughter, as it was the same type of school he had attended.

AN INTERESTING conflict is taking place between Orinda and Moraga, Orinda, largely through the Orinda Association, is fighting tooth and nail (have you ever seen anyone fight with a tooth and a nail?) against multiple zoning. Their goal is to keep "the low density character of the community."

Meanwhile, back in Moraga, apartments are mushrooming like mushrooms. Builder brothers Richard and Donald Rheem believe that this is the coming trend—and they've been conspicuously right before.

Donald Drive, which backyards-to-backyards the apartments being built by the Rheems with Joes Duffie and Smoot, are not Joysville. Four, maybe five, of the houses are for sale.

Donald Drivers are disenchanted. They say that they bought these "Parade of Homes" houses with the understanding that they were samples of the type of dwellings that would go up in the area. They wanted privacy. The fence line of one of the swank ranch houses with a pool on the street is just 39 feet from the apartments.

Residents of the street got to the Board of Supervisors too late to do anything but see that parking facilities were switched to the side opposite the Donald borderline.

THE BARN AND BARNES. W. Utah Construction Barnes is donating a part of the company's ranch for the Lions Club Luau June 10. For a trial run, at the Monday night meeting he allowed chief chef Art Fleuti to barbecue steak at the site. The rugged Lions hiked two blocks from the Barn to the ranch drinkless; and when Barnes arrived with two bottles, he was the most popular man in town.

The Christmas Tree Lights strung on The Moraga Barn are the only bright lights of "old" Moraga. And they're getting sparse. Art Fleuti will turn them on each night until the last bulb burns out. He may make a pool of the exact time this will happen—sort of like when the ice will break in Alaska. Sort of.

Details of Girl Scout Camp Are Told by Leader

Girls who will be in sixth grade through high school this fall are being extended the opportunity to camp with the Diablo Valley Girl Scouts at their camp Sierra Woodlands, according to Mrs. Vernon Stone, chairman of the camp.

Sierra Woodlands, approximately 220 miles from Diablo Valley, is situated high in the Sierra, eight miles from Sierra City off Route 49 on the famous Gold Lake Road. Its mountainous setting is enhanced by tall pines, mountain meadows and an abundance of lakes and streams. The elevation of 6000 feet insures freedom from poison oak and supplies a healthful, invigorating change of climate for the campers.

According to Mrs. Stone 473 Girl Scouts have already registered for the four camping sessions June 25 to August 18 and non-scouts will be welcomed during the first session, June 25-July 7.

Camp folders, including registration blanks, are available from the Girl Scout office, 3570 Terrace Way, Lafayette, 284-4414. The fee for the two weeks is $52 and includes transportation via chartered bus, food, program activities, first aid supplies, medical and accident insurance and supervision by well-trained staff.

The camp site and equipment are paid for from profits of the annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale.

'Lapidary Work Is Relaxing' Says Accountant

Rufus H. Hough, auditor of disbursements of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, and a director of the National Association of Accountants, San Francisco chapter, finds his work in the art of lapidary to be tremendously interesting.

"It is a very good way to forget the monthly closings and other accounting problems associated with the every day job," Hough says. He recommends it to all accountants as a great diversion.

Log in at Town Hall For 'Court Martial'

By MARIE MONAHAN

NOW Hear This! It's a clean sweepdown fore and aft and rated Four-O by all the landlubbering-playgoers who have witnessed the current vehicle at Lafayette Town Hall. In the vernacular of the Navy, The Caine Mutiny Court-Martial is a gold-star success!

THE DRAMATEURS and director Carl Rasmussen can well rest at ease. For it is the audience who remains at attention through the two acts that comprise this popular and purely imaginary work by novelist Herman Wouk. You won't be caught head-nodding during this one.

Definitely directed by Rasmussen who certainly can pick 'em when it comes to casting his players, The Caine holds you suspended with its subtle psychological somersaulting.

The all-male cast comes on stage front and center to give the viewer the feeling "he is there" during the dramatic hearing that finally breaks down hide and heart of the tough Lt. Commander Phillip Francis Queeg. Harry Rasmussen remembered as the explosive well-salted captain in the recent Mister Roberts, comes through as a Queeg more credible, it seemed to this observer, than the ones in both the movie and stage version. But then it could have been the front row seats instead of the usual balcony. We don't think so. Rasmussen's performance runs the gamut of emotions and a big strong man succumbing to sobs and salty tears over stolen strawberries is something to see, especially from the first row front.

VETERAN DRAMATEUR John Anton as Lt. Stephen Maryk, the accused, stands sympathetic and naive. His defending attorney, Lt. Barney Greenwood portrayed by the well-known Bruce Winkworth (in much the manner of an idealistic Gregory Peck of Gentlemen's Agreement) is another warm human characterization. A father and son duo, the Rolfe K. Williamses, senior and junior, get their gold stars, too, for skilled dexterity on stage with Williams, Sr., convincingly the shiphandler expert Captain Randolph Southard.

Philip Stearns as Captain Blakely lends both traditional dignity and reserve to his role as head of the jury panel. He is supported by the six members of the court (taken from a rotating roster of players) who look more the part of taciturn top brass jurists than suburban family men.

THE NAVAL WITNESS, acted by Bob Flaherty, Jim Sweet, Nils Swanson, Jack Paul and the aforementioned senior Williams all give laudible performances with their individual parts revealing both the strength and frailties of man. But it is Bill Prichard as Signalman Third Class Junius Urban who rates special kudos for his comic relief. Ringing the starch right out of his gob's hat, he takes to the witness stand like Dennis Day sitting on a pincushion while trying to sing a serious song. Stage discipline as well as navy discipline was evidenced in

Dr. Stuart Is New Manager For Calresearch

Dr. Frank A. Stuart has been appointed to the position of technical assistant to the manager—Petroleum Products Division of the Richmond Laboratory of the California Research Corporation. It is the wholly owned research and engineering subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of California.

Dr. Stuart will have responsibility for over-all evaluation and coordination of Calresearch's programs for developing new and improved fuels, lubricants, greases, asphalt and waxes.

Dr. Stuart, his wife and three children reside at 329 La Esplanade, Orinda.

Art deVillers and David Janzow, two young men who perform the duties of court-stenographer and orderly. Neither stirred from the serious business of being necessary "stage props" during the length of the play.

OTHER OFFICERS of the "Caine" creditably played by Ed Aszklar, Laurie Chapple, Perry Palin and John Read wind up the play in a final brief scene staged at the Hotel Fairmont, a surprise contrast to the courtroom scenes.

The fast-moving, compelling Court-Martial concludes with some very vitriolic diatribe by Queeg when his unleashed emotions bare themselves for exposure to a spellbound audience. There's a big hit on deck at the Town Hall and you'd better log in soon to see it! Performances Friday and Saturdays, 8 p.m. through June 2.

Dr. White to Be Installed At Church

A commission of the Presbytery of San Francisco will install the Rev. Ronald T. White, D.D., as the pastor of the Moraga Valley Presbyterian Church Sunday at 10:45 a.m. at the Moraga School.

In starting a new church, presbytery sends a minister to be the founding pastor. After the church has been chartered and there is a membership to express its will, a permanent pastor is called.

At a congregational meeting recently, the congregation issued a unanimous call to Dr. White. The presbytery concurred with the action of the congregation and elected a commission to conduct the installation service.

Presbyterian church leaders will participate in the service. The Rev. William Frankhusen, rector of St. Giles Episcopal Church in Moraga, will bring the greetings of the Moraga Valley Ministerial Association.

Dr. White graduated from San Francisco Theological Seminary in 1937 and has had an interesting and varied career.

Before coming to Moraga he was the executive manager for Northern California Presbyterian Homes, Inc. which has recently opened "The Sequoias," a community for retired people in the Portola Valley.

From 1951 until 1958 he was the general presbyter for the North Coastal Area of the Synod of California, during which time

26 new churches were chartered. Four years prior Dr. White served as the field representative for the board of Christian education. At the same time he was the executive for the Westminster Foundation for Northern California.

Dr. White has had three pastorates prior to entering the administrative field of the church's program.

The Moraga Valley Presbyterian Church was chartered by the presbytery on March 19, 1961. A beautiful site for the church has been secured in the Diablo Estates near Miramonte High School. The church has 173 members and intends to be building its sanctuary by this time next year.

TV Fetes Teacher

By GLADYS SHALLY

A TV newsmen stood talking with Principal Ruby Ruth Beers outside her "Little Room" window recently. He had just completed filming Canyon School children for a program to be shown that evening as a salute to Public Schools Week.

Suddenly he pointed into the room and exclaimed, "Look! They're all in there working!" Matter-of-factly Mrs. Beers replied, "What's so surprising about that? They all have work to do and they're doing it."

ANOTHER TIME a visitor, arriving just as recess was over, saw Mrs. Beers clap her hands and immediately every child (all 37 of them) left the playground and entered the school. "What is this strange power you have?" the visitor asked in amazement. "You only clapped your hands once." "Oh," the teacher laughed, "they know if they don't come at once, I'll boil them in oil."

You may visualize a huge, harsh disciplinarian standing over covering children with drawn ruler. Nothing could be further off. Mrs. Beers stands just five feet, (5' and 1/16") she would correct.

By her own admission she is a strict disciplinarian, but she is calm and quiet-voiced. Her ruler, ever there, is sheathed in velvet. Should a reprimand be necessary, the principal can be very severe (even to a towering eighth grader); yet no child holds resentment.

All her pupils know her to be fair, if a scolding is received, it is deserved. On the other hand, this teacher who is loved and respected, does not spare the praise when it is deserved.

ELEVEN YEARS ago, Ruby Ruth Beers came to teach the primary grades of the little two-room school. She drives from her home in Berkeley each day, even though there have been offers from bigger schools at larger salaries.

When asked just why she should choose to stay in a rural school with her qualifications she answered: "Because I like it here, and am happy in what I am doing. I love children. Here I have the opportunity to become more closely associated with the children, and am free to develop their creative abilities."

She added, "Our surroundings are beautiful. Charles Wiles, our upper grade teacher, works in perfect accord with me. Too, we have very cooperative parents in Canyon."

Ruby Ruth, or Peggy as her friends know her, was born in St. Charles, Missouri. After attending secondary schools there, went on to graduate from Wayne University, Detroit, Michigan, in physical education and public school music.

Her first school position was as supervisor of physical education and music in New York state. There were similar positions in other eastern states. There she also directed school operettas and pageants. While in New York she coached Long Island's champion basketball team—a boys team!

FOR FOUR YEARS Peggy headed the physical education department of the Houston, Texas, YMCA, attending summer sessions each year at the University of California. It was there that she met her husband, Charles. They were married in an unusual ceremony at sundown on the summit of Mt. Diablo, where the wedding party had motored. Mr. and Mrs. Beers have a son and a daughter and are grandparents.

After marriage, Peggy kept up her active life. "Don't ask me the dates," she said and then went on to mention some of the things she had done in the intervening years between her marriage and her present position. She did some substitute teaching and received a bachelor degree in education from San Francisco State. For a time she was P.E. instructor at Margaret Bently School in Berkeley.

DURING the several trips the family took to the Hawaiian Islands she learned the hula from a Mrs. Campbell who is credited with introducing the hand movements and story of the real hula dance to the Islands. Thereafter Peggy had dancing engagements at women's clubs all up and down the Pacific Coast.

She is past president of All Arts Club of Berkeley, belonged to the Oakland League Opera, and was active with the Berkeley Children's Symphony, and is to present a member of the College Women's Club of Berkeley.

As the "Slim Jim Girl" on KFRC radio, she wrote her own material for a daily 15-minute program on health and exercise. Later additional study courses have kept her up on newer teaching ideas. She found that a European tour, three years ago, was a valuable aid to social studies.

WHEN JOHNNY graduates from the fourth grade of Canyon School, he can read.

Mrs. Beers reports that some pupils learn to read better by the phonetic system, some by sight reading. Each is treated as an individual. Should a pupil read above his grade level he is allowed to work ahead. "I have first graders reading low third readers and second grader in fourth grade readers," Mrs. Beers said. "I try to make school work so interesting that each child is motivated to learn more, interesting enough so that he likes school."

As in any school in the past there have been problem children, problem teachers and problem parents. "But now," smiles Mrs. Beers, "there are no problems—to speak of. In fact if things were better it would be Utopia—and who would want that humdrum existence?"

All of the parents dread the day when progress reaches that quiet community—when the little creek-side schoolhouse under the redwoods bows to unification and Mrs. Beers will no longer fourth grade readers," Mrs. Beers said. "I try to make school start of a new school day."

RUBY RUTH BEERS, principal of Canyon School's 37 children; as well as teacher of 21 in the "Little Room," or lower grades. Mrs. Beers describes present conditions at the two-room schoolhouse as "Utopia!"

TOM MARRON, president of Moraga Junior Horsemen, will be on hand (or should we say horseback?) for the seventh annual horse show in the Bolinger Canyon arena. According to C. William Lance, secretary for the show, it will last from 8 a.m. "until it's over." Sun photo by Bob Yost

Horsemen to Give Seventh Annual Show

The Moraga Horsemen's Association, Inc., will have its seventh annual horse show Sunday—unless it rains. May 27 is the rain date. Over 100 local equestrians under 17 have entered.

The show will start at 8 a.m. at 1048 Bolinger Canyon, Moraga. The association's arena is at the end of the road at the north side of St. Mary's College. "It will last until its over, sometime in the late afternoon," according to C. William Lance, show secretary. Lunch and dinner refreshments will be available.

The association is a member of the American Horse Shows Association, and will be run according to AHSA rules, Lance said. There will be a medal class, stock saddle seat.

Judy Morrison of Alamo, and James Black of Oakland, will be judges. Gene F. Lockhard, Walnut Creek, will be steward.

The first class will be for western trail horses, maiden, for entrants 17 years and under. The last of the 18 events will be for western pleasure horses ridden by 13-17 year olds.

The Sociables

By MARIE MONAHAN

THEIR THIRTEENTH Anniversary turned out to be a lucky one for members of Pandora who celebrated with a spring dance last Saturday at Orinda Country Club.

The popular Children's Home Society chapter took over the new Fairway Lounge, redubbed it "Pandora's Peppermint Lounge" for the evening and one guest surveyed the room to remark "I've never seen so many handsome people in one room in all my life." The gladrag was indeed out in full splendor!

Chairman Etta Hill who entertained earlier for some thirty guests, in a beige bouffant organza . . . An elegant ensemble worn by Juanita Kroll whose dress, coat, shoes and bag, all of matching silver brocade, had been handmade in Hongkong.

BETTY DE GUARDA, there with John in a trio of couples (the Jim Barcelons and Jack Neldams) striking in shocking pink satin frock with matching coat.

GORDON HECHER'S orchestra played marvelous music, old ones and new for the dancing daughters of Pandora and everybody took a turn at The Twist . . . The strains of the Anniversary serenaded Jack and Bea Van Gelder who were celebrating their 20th anniversary. Bea's blondeness enhanced by a brilliant blue frock. Jack had played 36 holes of golf but barely missed a date. One of the Van Gelders' guests DID, however, that being Helen Finn who had the honor of wearing two dresses during the evening. The Catastrophe occurred when a zipper broke after an agile twist but the undaunted Helen rushed home, changed to an even prettier dress & reappeared to continue the evening, Twisting.

A LARGE CONTINGENT of capers were on hand for early libations at Maxine and Lew Doty's who only arrived home from the Islands via jet the morning of the party. Both were tanned, rested, didn't miss a dance and thoughtfully dolled up their guests with fresh fragrant orchid leis flown in with their own precious cargo. The Dotys three weeks itinerary included Honolulu, Coco Palms, Hilo, Kona Inn and Hana Maui.

Pat and Mac MacDonald hosted an early cocktail conclave that included Marge and Phil Bush; Liz and John Babcock, Carolyn and Bob Patmont, the latter lady looking cool as sherbet in an orange sheath . . . Jane and Wyatt King were guests at Natalie and Ted Snyder . . . Jane's silk slippers matching her cerise chignon . . . Jan Soubielle's sky-blue spaghetti-tinged skirt whirled on the dance floor . . . She and Hank with Fae and Con Smith who hosted another merry gathering.

Pandora president Ida Pedder and husband Jack catching their breath after a center-floor spin . . . Marion and Don Hutchinson (she's prexy of Rocking Horse Chapter, Orinda-Moraga area) were with Aileen and Bill Morgenson, Lois and Bob McKim, Nancy and Marty Stiles and Georgia and Ronald Hamm who paused to toast pre-dance with Carolyn and Ed Walsh at their Del Rey home . . . More in the Twist-thing, new Pandora member Betty Lyman and husband Bob . . . & what if all the drug stores were sold out of Sloan's liniment the next day to help those Twisted muscles? It was worth it & what's more—the day of rest for Mother anyhow!

A TREMENDOUS TRIBUTE to industrialist Henry J. Kaiser, Sr. at Kaiser Center in Oakland the other night . . . lights of the building spelling out the 50th Anniversary of Kaiser Industries, the 700 guests spelling out glamour at the dinner taking place in the glass-walled dining room overlooking Lake Merritt.

The Fred Borden, Doris and Wally Marsh in the guest throng as were Bill and Evie Gleason, Lee and Jim Beatty in from Happy Valley.

PINK SATIN cloths covered the dining tables centered with pompom bouquets of rhododendron blooms . . . Dr. Cecil Cutting with Millie, Dr. Wallace Neighbor with wife Win . . . Win taking time out for champagne for next Friday's Pops Concert at the Oakland Auditorium . . . Individual gifts from the famous figure (who was also celebrating his 80th Birthday) were handsome lucite cubes embellished with a gold nugget inside and engraved with each guest's name on the outside. You can bet these are now being proudly displayed as paper weights on executive desks throughout the area.

NEXT FRIDAY night's Fun in Town will be the Oakland Symphony Association's benefit, Pops Concert conducted by Gerhart Samuel at Oakland Auditorium . . . Some of those planning to take their symphonic strains with beer and pretzels in the beer garden setting of the main floor include the Heber Smiths, Philip Bushes, the Fred Twinnings, Rom Yedidias and Joe Maehler and Mary Merrill, both who have been working toward a bravo, success! for the symphony benefit.

IDEAS FOR SPRING decor? Try the Orinda House Tour Tuesday, May 29, by Lombardy Branch featuring five very individual homes on the afternoon (1-4) agenda. Refreshments will be served in the garden of the Edward J. Daly home at 12 Las Aromas, the huge estate and house formerly owned and built by the late philanthropist, Wallace Alexander. Tkts. $2.00 from Mildred Law, CL 4-3178.

A GOING-AWAY PARTY was given recently in honor of Paul and Mary Wand who, due to a business promotion, will take up new residency in the Southland. Jean and Jim Dobey drove up from Los Gatos to see their former friends & neighbors for the evening and used the guest towels at the home of Jack and Bea Van Gelder. Others farewelling with fondness were Charlie and Iris Marsh, Ruthie and John Schwartz, Gertrude and "Si" Brown, Pat and Helen Finn, Margaret and Jack Moran, Mary and Norm Wing and Phoebe and Bill Allen, making it quite a send-off!

POSTMASTER LAURA MALLARY cuts the ribbon to open the new post office, 33 Orinda Way. The dedication ceremonies attracted a large crowd Saturday at 2 p.m.

Victor Graber Likes To Talk With Horses

Braganza will be running the $15,000 Championship Tanforan Handicap tomorrow. His half brother, Cadiz, will be running the $100,000 handicap at Hollywood Park, Los Angeles.

No one in the grandstands will be rooting any harder than their owner, Victor Graber, 25 Rheem Boulevard, Orinda. Graber, owner of the Crescent Jewelry Company in Oakland, is a distinguished horseman.

He is noted for his fine stable of horses from Vicgray Farm, Martinez, and for his prowess as a polo player.

POLO PLAYING, described as "the sport of kings and emperors" since it was first played in Persia over 3000 years ago, has been Graber's sport for over 25 years.

Prince Philip invited Mr. and Mrs. Graber to play for the European Gold Cup in the Hurlingham championship matches in England in the fall. "There's a good chance we will go," said Graber.

Graber played on the California polo team against Prince Philip's team in Santa Barbara in March. Although the prince was not a participant, his teammates were so impressed with the hospitality of the California team that each member was extended an invitation to the Hurlingham match.

GRABER is captain of the Crescent Jeweler's polo team, so named by its three other members in his honor. The team won the first test run last Sunday in Santa Barbara. Teams from the West are now participating in challenge matches to determine who is to represent them in Chicago in September.

The Crescent Jeweler's team has won the national championship twice since 1955. A non-professional team, it competes for honor.

The Crescent team played against teams from Chile, the Philippines and Hawaii in international events.

Becky Harris, 30 Parklane Drive, Orinda, will be among graduating students honored at a school reception and assembly Thursday at San Jose State College. Also on Thursday, she will be initiated into Phi Kappa Phi, a national honor society.

Becky is graduating in elementary education in June. She was recently named a dean's scholar for maintaining over a 3.5 average.

Becky graduated from Acalanes High School in 1958. She won a California PTA scholarship for her senior year at San Jose State.

time we ever had was when we enjoyed the hospitality of the Mexican polo team," said Graber. He has spent three weeks in Mexico on different occasions.

Graber and his wife, Barbara, have four children—just the right number for a polo team. They are: Kelley Lewis, 9; Stephen Carl, 8; David Paul, 6, and Lisa, 3.

MRS. GRABER flies her own plane as a hobby and often transports her husband to a polo match or a horse race. Recently she flew Bill and Barbara Lincoln, parents of the Orinda triplets, and their teenage daughter to Arizona.

Just yesterday Kelley asked his father: "Dad, when do I start playing polo?"

Sleepy Hollow Assn. Elects New Slate

Newly elected officers and directors of the Sleepy Hollow Improvement Association met Tuesday night to firm up plans for the annual Sleepy Hollow cocktail party to be held May 27.

New officers are Philip Fields, president; Stephen Stewart, vice president; De Loss Winkler, treasurer, and Mrs. Beatrice Comerford, secretary.

Elected as directors of the Orinda group were the following, each listed with the geographical unit he represents, as well as the committee he heads:

ROBERT WILLIAMS, unit 1, representative to the Orinda planning committee; Fields, unit 1, special assignments; Stephen Stewart, unit 2, chairman, building restrictions; Owen Owens, unit 2, membership and publicity; Percy Dawson, unit 3, representative to the school board; Robert Moe, unit 3, chairman, roads committee; Monte Haslett, unit 4, special assignments; Vaughn Smallwood, unit 4, civic affairs.

Owens, Moe and Haslett will serve as directors for two years, with terms of the other directors expiring after this year.

The cocktail party will be a renewal of the popular "meet your neighbor" affair that was last held in 1958. This year's party, scheduled from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Thomas, 7 St. James Court.

More than 300 expected to attend are asked to form car pools, to help alleviate traffic conditions on St. James Court. A micro-bus will be used to convey partygoers up and down the steep driveway to the Thomas home.

THE PARTY is open to Sleepy Hollow residents and their weekend guests. A nominal fee will be charged for drinks, as the affair is not to be a money-making event.

Ordeuvres will be provided by wives of the officers and directors and the cocktails will be catered by a party service, with four bartenders on hand.

At the first meeting of the new officers and directors Tuesday night, a commendation was given to retiring president Percy Dawson and the outgoing directors.

The group then got down to business, reviewed annual committee reports and commended the Orinda fire department for their continuous service.

Fields said that the Sleepy Hollow Improvement Association will closely watch any further indication of plans by a developer to attain opening of Lombardy Lane at its far end.

"Extending Lombardy Lane would be the ruin of Sleepy Hollow," said Fields, "and we will do everything in our power to prevent this action."

Teachers Get Salary Boost

Acalanes Union High School District trustees have approved a teacher salary adjustment for the 1962-63 school year.

The newly adopted schedule for high school teachers will run from $5,100 to $10,125 with teachers eligible for the maximum at 14 years of service and 75 units of college work above their bachelor degree.

The salary adoption will add $56,000 to the cost of district operations next year, according to school officials.

Teachers had requested a maximum of $10,250 in 13 steps in a schedule proposed by the teachers' association for the district, the Acalanes Education Association, that would have added $103,000 to next year's district budget.

Judge Rahn Hits Adult 'Juvenile Delinquents'

Walnut Creek's famous feminine jurist, Betsy Fitzgerald Rahn, startled her audience at the Northern California Safety Congress session in San Francisco recently by describing what she termed "the adult juvenile delinquent."

Judge Rahn characterized him as "a man who owns an expensive automobile, sometimes a sports car, and is seen too often in traffic court after trying to prove he is the fastest driver in the county."

The Walnut Creek municipal judge participated on a panel discussing "How can we teach people to drive safely?"

The sessions were under the direction of the California Traffic Safety Foundation.

POPULAR and vivacious Judge Rahn said too many people come into traffic court expecting to pay a fine and get out without any bother.

"They think I am being unfair if I suggest they attend the traffic court school. I give them a choice usually. I sentence them to five days in jail and then suspend the sentence if they attend the school. They clearly understand that if they fail to attend traffic school, the original jail sentence awaits them," the judge said.

She also had a word to say about her own profession. "Judges of the traffic court should themselves attend a comprehensive course in traffic accident prevention before taking over the traffic bench."

"As a defense attorney, I knew little about traffic cases with the exception of serious cases such as 'drunk driving' in which I came to court to plead my client 'not guilty' and demand a jury trial."

"LIKE OTHER defense attorneys, I didn't wait around to see the complicated job of a judge hearing 50 to 150 cases a day. Upon assuming my present position on the bench, I took it upon myself to learn something about the job."

"The conferences of the American Bar Association's traffic court program were very helpful. I believe all judges should be required to take similar courses, by law, before setting in judgment upon others," the jurist said.

Cub Den Lends Helping Hand To Retarded

After reading in The Orinda Sun about the Lynn Home for Retarded Children, Danville, a group of Orinda Cub Scouts decided to do something about it.

Den 1, Pack 57, collected toys for the less lucky little ones at the Lynn Home. They delivered them recently, accompanied by Den Mother Mrs. S. G. Purdy.

Boys who participated are: Mark Keating, denmer; Don Purdy, assistant denmer; Buck Patton; Robby Eckhoff; Craig Cooper and Bob Sandford.

Among the collection of toys was a child's rocking chair, blackboards, puppets, books, games and small cars and trucks.

It was difficult to tell, by the smiles, who benefited most—the givers or receivers.

Harry Brown Hits Sheriff Walt Young

Former Sheriff Harry A. Brown this week challenged incumbent Walter F. Young, re- turning to Young's "pretense of efficiency of operation of the office, vice control, protection of unincorporated areas, suppression of prostitution, riots and other disorders cited in the grand jury investigation."

Brown said Young has been invited to attend public candidate meetings and other meetings but Brown added Young has not "drawn the light" on his official record while in office.

"Incumbent Young cites in detail his qualification for the office," said Brown.

"But he fails to 'measure up' in the light either of official analysis or even of the most casual scrutiny of the thoughtful voter," said Brown.

Brown said Young promised that there would be no vice in the county during his tenure.

Brown said area newspapers carried stories about criticism of Young in the weeks after Young assumed office.

The grand jury was cited by Brown as referring to "gambling and prostitution" existing in the county during Young's tenure as sheriff.

Conway Calls For Comments From Sheriff

"Failure of the present sheriff to appear at candidate nights to date has proved disappointing," Vernon L. "Jack" Conway, vice-mayor and sheriff-candidate said this week.

"I would like to have the opportunity to meet him at a candidate night and have the opportunity to discuss with him some of his weak policies during the past three years," Conway declared.

Recent activities for Conway have included attendance at the candidates night sponsored by the Pittsburg Fourth Democratic Club and Loyalty Day ceremonies in Richmond where he attended on behalf of the City of Concord and Concord Post 5182 Veterans of Foreign Wars.

New Main Bidder Selected

M.G.M. Construction Company of Concord was recently awarded a contract by the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District for construction of a new Orinda force main. M.G.M.'s low bid was $199,309.55.

This project consists of two pressure mains, 16 and 24 inches in diameter and a 30-inch diameter gravity line. It will connect Lower Orinda pumping station on San Pablo Creek near Miner Road with the recently constructed crossroads station.

Installation of these pipelines, as well as the whole new Orinda system, has been planned in co-operation with state and county improvements in the area, according to the CCCSD. Due to differences in budget and construction requirements, the pressure lines could not be installed as part of the Orinda bypass road project as were the Charles Hill lines, but plans were made for later construction.

The lines will be located in the shoulder area outside of the main traveled way except in the area of the freeway overpass where structure slope and safety controls dictate partial use of one lane.

Work on the highway has been oriented to traffic safety and convenience with speed of construction also emphasized to reduce the overall interference. To miss commuter traffic peaks, work outside of regular hours will be permitted on an emergency basis only.

Special trench drainage facilities and backfill materials are included in the contract to insure roadbed stability, and the sewer work will be followed by a shoulder seal coat and markings to improve road conditions.

This project is the final major pipeline work in Orinda authorized by the 1956 district bond program. It will be followed immediately by pump station modifications to increase capacity at Lower Orinda and reversal of flow in the existing force mains from this station.

This changeover of old pressure lines to gravity flow will permit the retirement of the Upper Orinda pump station on Lake Cascade. All flow from the Orinda area will be lifted over Charles Hill summit by the new crossroads station in the new pressure mains and tunnel constructed as an integral part of the recent freeway project.

Taylor's Campaign Rolling

A group of Walnut Creek citizens from Saranap and adjacent areas recently met at the home of Mrs. James Barnett, and organized a political action group to further the election of former Supervisor Ray Taylor, candidate for supervisor from the Third District.

Taylor told the members he would like to see many of the projects completed that had been initiated when he represented this district on the board of supervisors, a period of 18 years which covered four terms.

Taylor added that he had personally started many of the programs of county improvement that are just now getting underway, and felt best qualified to see them completed.

Taylor told the group that he would divest himself of his private business and devote "full time" to being supervisor.

He added that anyone who devoted part of their time to a private profession or business "was simply not representing the people," and in many cases represented "conflict of interest" not the people.

Taylor's talk included the controversial topic of the financing of the county's new administrative building.

"Perhaps a 12-story skyscraper is needed as a new building," Taylor said, "but the financing of this project is a deplorable mistake."

"It should be placed on the ballot as a bond issue and put to the vote of the people. The people should decide a big issue such as this," he added. Board of Supervisors from the county Tax Payers Association which states that the cost of the new building is increased by over $800,000 by the method of financing that has been decided upon and this additional cost has to be borne by the taxpayer.

Officers were appointed to head a "Taylor for Supervisors Club."

H. H. Cherrington, real estate broker and former mayor of Walnut Creek will act as co-chairman, along with Norman A. Passur, Walnut Creek engineer.

Mrs. James Barnett and Lee Ivory will be secretaries in Walnut Creek.

Mannie Cottow, local auto dealer will be treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Burright of Castle Hill Road will also be officers.

G&L, Pittman Apts. Set for Planners

the northeasterly end of Lom-hardy Lane and continues to Happy Valley Road. Civic groups have expressed concern over the stress the development would put on schools, roads and sewers.

AMONG THOSE who will attend the meeting will be Eric Nielsen, president of the Orinda Association; Richard Bartle, chairman of the association's planning commission; Philip Fields, president of the Sloop Hollow Improvement Association, and representatives of the Hanov Valley Improvement Association and the Orinda Union School District.

Generally a subdivision map is not filed until the board officially rules on the zoning. Under the assumption that the zoning will be approved, the corporation will save five to six weeks by submitting its map early.

MRS. PITTMAN will be represented by Edmund Barnett, Walnut Creek attorney. "The application which we have filed proposes to do something that we believe will be an asset to the community," said Barnett.

"I look upon this as a threat to the basic concepts on which Orinda is developed," said Richard Bartle.

"There's not a house in a mile," Mrs. Pittman said, referring to her acre. She will bring to the meeting signed approval by five of the property owners who have property adjacent to hers.

The signatures include Robert Klemmedson, architect who owns a nearby building; Jack Martin, president of the company who owns the 10 acres referred to as the Pine Grove property; Mr. Kerrigan, Charlotte Tietjen and George Gouri, also owners of neighboring property.

Mrs. Pittman states that she also has the backing of the owners of the Masonic Hall.

"THE 52 apartments near Brookwood facing residences will soon be completed," she states. "That land has the same history as mine: it was previously owned by the water company and was rezoned from R-A to multiple.

"If the planners rule against me, I will consider it discriminatory," she said. "What can I do with land zoned agricultural? Maybe I could have a turkey ranch there."

Speaking for the opposition, Bartle said: "If the board were to approve this, we see great difficulty in following the other provisions of the Orinda General Plan, approved by the county in 1959. This provides for low residential density and limited commercial zoning."

"IF PASSED, it will be difficult to uphold principles of the low density character of Orinda," Bartle said. "It would be difficult to stop small single family dwellings from rezoning to multiple."

Bartle considers that what happens on the Pittman property is closely associated with the Orinda North property, 190 acres between Pine Grove and Charles Hill Roads.

OWNERS JACK Marchant, Les Guthrie and Don Doughty are currently working with the association to arrive at "something suitable" for the property.

A previous effort to build on the land was blocked, largely through the efforts of the association. The previous owners were represented by Bernard Muth.

The present Orinda North plan would locate multiple units on the forward slopes toward the business district and Orinda Way.

THE PINE GROVE area would contain administrative office construction with some "green belt" areas. The side toward the freeway would also provide green belt area.

Behind the slopes, the developer plans single family homes on approximately half-acre lots. The front area would not require the heavy grading necessary for single family lots, since the multiples would cluster in three groups.

WHAT'S DOING

Howard Greenhalgh, your Telephone Manager in Orinda

Making summer vacation plans?

A long distance call is your surest guarantee you'll have just the reservations you want when you arrive at your vacation spot. Along the way, you'll want to call ahead to friends or relatives to let them know you'll be in town. Settling details by long distance is part of the fun of going places.

When you get there, a call to the folks back home, to let them know you're "having a wonderful time," is one more way your telephone can help make your vacation a happy one.

Tuesday, June 5th, will be an important day for every citizen interested in good government. I'm sure that means all of us. Because June 5 is the day we select state and congressional office candidates for the general election next fall.

While the primaries are next month, many people are starting to bone up on the candidates now, learning about them, their records, and what they stand for. Seems to me that's a mighty good way to help select those best qualified.

VOTE JUNE 5

By the very nature of our business, you often come in contact with telephone people here in town. You talk with people in the business office and our operators, see installers and other telephone men busy all around town. If it seems like a good many folks work for the phone company, you're right. We've got 213 people on the payroll right here in Central Contra Costa County, excluding Martinez.

Naturally the best part of their paychecks is spent here, with local merchants and businesses. In this way, telephone people are helping add a big boost to the economy of Central Contra Costa County.

Student's Wife Wins Television Contest

While her husband and three children watched her on television at their home, 2001 Hoover Avenue, Sylvia Graff of Walnut Creek captured the title of Channel 13 KO-VR girl at Sacramento recently.

"I never expected to win," gasped the 22-year-old housewife when she was interviewed the following morning. "I entered for the fun of it and was it thrilling!"

Mrs. Graff is five feet seven inches tall, tips the scales at 120 pounds and those three vital figures are 37-26-37. Her eyes are green and her hair is brown. "I SAW IT in The Sun and it sounded so interesting that I decided to enter," was the way the winning Walnut Creek woman explained her first appearance in any kind of a beauty or talent contest.

Sylvia's husband, David, is a junior majoring in economics at the University of California in Berkeley. The remainder of the family includes two boys, Mike five, and Russ, one, and a daughter, Tami, three years old.

Asked about the $1,000 wardrobe she won along with the other honors, Mrs. Graff enthused and commented, "It will come in mighty handy. With three youngsters and a husband in college a woman just doesn't spend too much on personal wardrobe."

The young Walnut Creek mother was one of 15 finalists in the television station's contest. Tuesday night they selected eight and then from that number picked Sylvia as the KO-VR girl with another Walnut Creek entry—Glenda Ann Bleishime—as the first runner-up.

Channel 13 officials pointed out that the award was made on poise, personality and speaking ability as well as physical charm. MRS. GRAFF has no illusions of becoming a television star. In fact she hinted that she'd rather do the commercial selling on TV and she may get an opportunity with a 13 weeks' Channel 13 contract and a chance to appear on several ABC-TV programs.

"If I have any poise or sales ability it has come from representing Cooper Guild in selling kitchenware at neighborhood gatherings," Sylvia asserted. She plans to take a course in modeling in San Francisco to further help her develop her poise.

Asked about who would care for the three little Graffs while she was on TV, she replied:

Is A Rec Program Enough for Kids?

Are you as a parent shifting your individual responsibilities as a parent to local youth activities such as the organized recreation programs?

And, if so, are those community programs alone enough to insure that your child will grow up with all the advantages of mature guidance?

Despite the excellence of many of our local youth programs in the central county and the Bay Area, our top law enforcement officers strongly doubt that any civic program can take the place of a compassionate, intelligent parent who is genuinely interested in his child's development and problems.

PARENTS WHO ARE dodging their personal responsibility to their children were described by Berkeley's Chief Addison Ford as follows:

"The character of the child is formed basically in the home. There has been far too great a tendency on the part of the society in general to pass this on to civic activity."

He continued, "You can build up a recreation program, but you are just giving the parent another opportunity to shed responsibility. They expect the police to keep the kids out of trouble and expect the recreation department to provide recreation."

"But what the parents are really doing is shedding their responsibility to all of these public agencies..."

WALTER YOUNG, Contra Costa's sheriff, participated in the panel discussion, and said he believes street crimes commonly associated with youth are not on the increase in his county, although he admitted that the annual total number of calls for all reasons have increased from 22,000 in 1959 to 35,000 during the last fiscal year.

Survey Lauds Driver Training in Schools

Support for The Sun's earlier editorial stand for keeping driver training in the high school curriculum came this week from a survey made in Lansing, Michigan, and reported in Look Magazine.

Teen-agers who successfully complete their high school driver training courses usually turn out to be better drivers than most adults, the survey concluded.

Drivers in the under-20 age group who have received competent training behind the wheel are involved in 20 per cent fewer accidents per 1000 drivers, said the survey.

THE POPULAR IMAGE of the reckless teen-age male driver may also be improved somewhat by the plan of some insurance companies to reduce their rates for those who have completed the high school driver training courses, the study noted.

This indicates to us that the driver training courses in the high schools are doing the job.

The Sun earlier was concerned about a suggestion by Roy Simpson, state superintendent of public instruction, that driver training be handed over to the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

Simpson said that driver education in schools has been a target of many people complaining about too many frills in modern education.

THE SUN BELIEVES that driver training has become an absolutely essential item which is being done competently in the schools, where such training is made convenient to the maximum degree for the youthful driver.

They Love Bingo

Although it is a popular pastime with many groups such as senior citizens and some veterans' organizations, the game of bingo is considered gambling and is illegal in California.

Enforcement of the law against bingo has always been a problem, since this involves prosecuting so many "little ol' ladies" and persons who may generally be considered the "solid citizens."

Now, a California assemblyman has proposed that bingo be made legal, but only if conducted "... for the benefit of a non-profit organization chartered by the Congress of the United States."

Chief backer of the bill is the Disabled American Veterans, a non-profit group chartered by Congress.

THERE ARE OTHER assemblymen objecting. One said it would be unfair to leave out other responsible organizations like the Loyal Order of Moose, for instance.

But the assemblymen listened with most attention to an 83-year-old lady who was from an Oakland home for the aged.

Representing three Oakland senior citizens groups, she said they all gave up bingo when warned it was illegal, but added, "We all love bingo."

SHE WARNED that the senior citizens would be glad to vote for any legalizing of bingo, should the proposition get through the legislature, and be submitted to the vote of the people.

Should bingo be legalized for certain groups in California? Can a form of gambling be legal for one group and not for another?

Blankety-Blank!

By VIC RUGH

"You dumb so-and-so, why didn't you stop at that stop sign?"

That's what I yelled out at a fellow motorist the other morning and then spent the rest of the trip to the office mentally pondering my own sins and transgressions of the open road.

In the first place, I'm a yeller. I have been for years. I don't think any oncoming motorist who has been greeted by my verbosity has ever heard more than a smattering of the sarcasm I directed his way.

But it does entertain the family. In fact, when my progeny were at a very tender age the eldest daughter almost reformed me by "playing Daddy" in the living room—acting as though she was me and was driving the baby bed in which her next oldest sister reclined.

She suddenly stuck her head over the side rail and screamed out in her childish treble voice: "Look out where ya goin' you silly-so-and-so."

My wife and I exchanged glances across the room—hers critical and mine abject. Mine became even more so when the next phrase from senior daughter Sandra came out:

"Sit down, Karla, blankety-blank it." (The blankety-blanks are because this is a family newspaper.)

I believe that reduced my running roadside commentary to a minimum for several years. Now the four youngsters are grown and driving their own cars. Whether with or without invective I haven't learned as yet.

This departure of the offspring from home seems to send the average couple into the same state as a distance runner getting his second wind at the 880 pole. I find myself lapsing back into some of my younger and less gentle habits—having shaken off the shackles of parental restraint.

Many of the things I formerly did to serve as good examples for the children are now forgotten or let slide. Even Mama leaves the dirty dishes in the sink now and then and the bed isn't always made.

In fact, my spouse has always hated the crust on bread or toast. But like a good mother she set an example for her children by eating them up, down to the very last crumb.

Now and then I notice crusts in the garbage after the plates are scraped. It must give her as much satisfaction as my "blankety-blank" does me.

I can remember in childhood that when my Grandpa Singleton paid us a visit he was always a meticulous fellow. His conversation was as well-groomed as the swallow tail coat he used to wear. And he never resorted to profanity.

But, I also recall, that when he said "dog gone it" the very rafters reverberated and the air was electric.

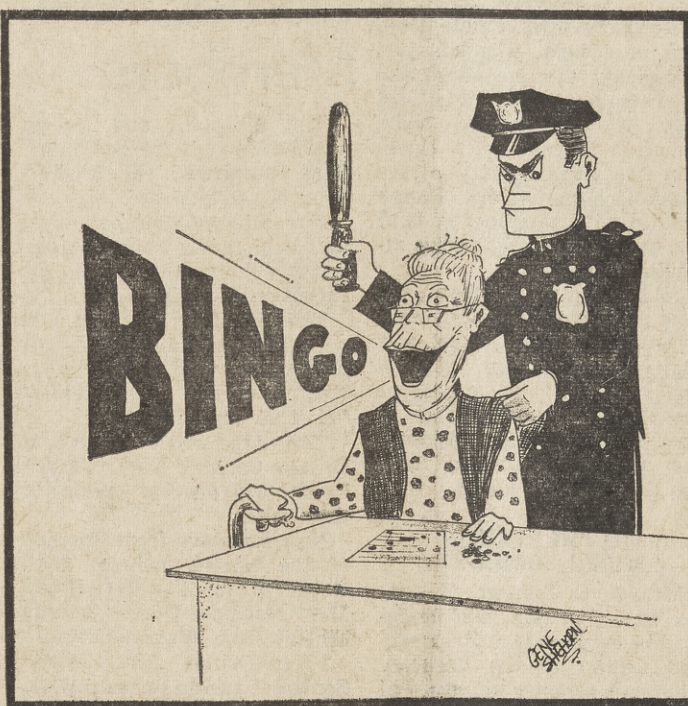

It must be the manner in which things are said that brings out the savage instinct of the listener. It's like the admonition from the novel "The Virginian":

"When you say that smile!" Which brings me right back to the beginning of this diatribe. It all started because I'm a yeller. And as I drove down the highway after shouting at the guy who failed to halt at the stop sign I remembered:

The only citation I ever got from a highway patrolman was for failing to stop at a stop sign.

Some psychiatrist would probably say my reaction is a guilt complex. And he might be right.

Three Strikes I'm Out At the Old Ball Game!

By MARIE MONAHAN

NOW'S gone the peaceful dinner—
The lingering demi-tasse.
The hammock snooze, the evening news
These, too, I'll have to pass.
I'm off in sunshine's brightness—
I try to look real eager
As I stack the dishes in the sink—
To cheer my little Leaguer.
ASSORTED hats rest on the stair,
New cap & jersey blue,
The mitts are flung on counter, chair.
(This lad has quite a few!)
It's at this season every year,
The Boy won't beg my pardon.
I'm just a real green rookie Mom
Boning up a baseball jargon.
HE coaches me on all the plays,
I learn to pitch a sinker.
But tag-ups, bunts & double-plays,
Will not sink in my thinker.
I SIT on sidelines hollering—
PROUD PARENT all abeam.
And when I holler loudest—learn
I'm rooting the wrong team!
I read the sportsy columnists,
To learn each 'Big League' name.
I recite the batting averages &
Who's in the Hall of Fame,
THE CARDINALS or Tigers?
The Yankees or Da Bums?
Whoever wins the pennant
Can have it when it comes!
AT social parties I pretend
I knew who was to blame...
When our Giants had to go & throw
That blasted last ball game!
I've bloomed & I've bobbed...
I'm considered a disgrace.
WHEN IT comes to pinch-hit homers,
I can't make it to First Base!
It seems that I've been "singled" out—
The Squeeze Play is on me...
It's ME who's made the "sacrifice"
With my naivete.
OH, I'm off by sunshine's brightness.
I try to look real eager
As I suffer indignation—
TO CHEER my little Leaguer.

Pollution Advice Council Reorganizes Procedures

The 20-member advisory council to the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District got set for streamlined operation in the coming year with action taken at a meeting in San Francisco.

By-laws were changed by the council, reducing the number of standing committees from eight to four, and a new guide of council procedures was accepted.

The new guide spells out the council's basic function, scope of activities, general objectives and responsibilities, relationship with other units of the district, and limits of authority, based on the working experience of the group during the past several years.

PAY RAISE

Dear Editor,
The taxpayers association stand on the matter of across-the-board flat $50 per month pay raise for all county employees I approve of.

I agree that such an across-the-board pay raise is not justified. I hope that the stand of the association has the desired effect of an adjustment in this proposal. I am so advising Supervisor Mel Nielsen, with a copy of this letter.

While I agree with the association's stand on public affairs the greater portion of the time I simply cannot agree with the stand on the matter of the proposed bond issue to buy land for parks.

Most of this land to be bought is now in the hands of the East Bay Municipal Water District.

This land the people already own, that is they own what the bond holders do not.

Why should we bond ourselves again to buy what we already own?

All we need to acquire this land for park use is a change in legal language it seems to me.

SIC TRANSIT

Dear Editor:

Intelligence is a faculty that a majority of our residents should be blessed with. Our per capita income is rated high on the scale, indicating at least average reasoning power.

Yet we are expected to "swallow" propaganda that twists the truth until it is hardly recognizable.

Before me I have a letter from the Lafayette Improvement Association stating: "The L.I.A. has led the successful fight to keep the rapid transit along the freeway AND OUT OF RESIDENTIAL LAFAYETTE."

Maybe the L.I.A. are looking at a 1940 map. I repeat that approximately $10,000,000 in property will have to be condemned if the proposed route is used. Along with approximately 250 other residents I cannot accept this statement.

Earlier I said Supervisor Nielsen acted in haste in proposing the route north of the freeway.

It seems to me that all our supervisors are too anxious to please the transit district and have never bothered to check the cost of the proposed routing as compared with routes A and B. In The Sun issue of January 27, 1961, an article in discussing a routing stated:

"It has been estimated that it would be $1,863,000 more costly to build the transit district along the freeway."

When all the condemnation suits are settled and all the hills cleared away, I say it will cost a good $5,000,000 more. In all events it will probably be more costly, yet to the best of my knowledge this small item has never been mentioned in Martinez.

Perhaps we should close our eyes and go along with the transit district's pat statement that seems to indicate that any proposed change, regardless of how drastic, is "within our budget."

And speaking of the rapid transit district, I called to their attention an apparent fallacy in the matter of wording a letter to the residents who protested route "C".

In a January 10 answer to the protesting petition signers, Harry L. Morrison, Jr., director of the transit district, wrote:

"A very large number of people in your area have expressed their approval of route 'C' as opposed to route 'A'. These include: The Lafayette Chamber of Commerce, the Lafayette Design Project, the Lafayette Improvement Association, the Lafayette Oaks, the Sun Valley Improvement Association, the Trinity-Lacassie Improvement Association and the Walnut Creek City Council."

What Morrison is saying here is that every one of these associations said they preferred route "C". I feel that most of them rejected the routing that would be close to or traversing their own area, yet only two or three specifically mentioned preference for route "C".

I asked Morrison to clarify this but did not receive an answer so my only conclusion is that his letter wording was misleading and incorrect. If that is so it is another affront to our intelligence.

All the flag waving about government help should also be weighed. For the whole country the program allows $500,000,000. The cost of the three-county transit district will be around $800,000,000—probably more.

I very much doubt if the government will allow this district more than $25,000,000—a mere drop in the bottomless bucket, which we will all have to pay for in the end in one way or another.

I say this whole mess needs to go back to the drawing board. As I said in an earlier letter—let's not discount the monorail, a most flexible system. Pillars only 44 to 50 inches in width will support a two-way monorail with speeds up to 80 miles per hour.

The supported type monorail can be run through tubes and tunnels. The center strip of our own Lafayette freeway section could easily be used for the right of way—eliminating one of the most costly and heart breaking parts of this proposal—private property condemnation.

In conclusion, in answer to Morrison, I say that we on the north side of the freeway reject route "C" and we do not propose to be "brushed off" with a letter whose text practically evades the issue at hand. And to our supervisors, please get some cost figures, then reject the plan as it now stands.

Is the Foot Obsolete? Let's Head for the Hills

By ELEANOR SILVERMAN

What ever happened to the good old fashioned foot?

Just read in last week's Sun Suburbia Today about the new chair cart, much like the golf cart, which will save you walking a block or two to the bus. You roll it in the back of your car, drive down the block to do your grocery store, roll it out of your car trunk and ride the cart from your parking place to the store.

I am no health enthusiast, but it seems to me that we do little enough walking these days without resorting to golf carts and the new take-the-walk-out-of-walking carts.

How long has it been since you have taken a walk through the hills in your own back yard?

Off to the hills

Last week, we piled the family and the fried chicken into the car and drove a mile into the hill country for a hike. Heaven forbid, that we could possibly make such a trip without at least starting out in the car.

We passed a few farms and cows, opened a few "No Trespassing" gates, and finally found the choice spot for our "hike." Our scout Dan, complete with first aid kit and canteen, blazed the trail for us. We found a perfect path heading right up the hill behind Las Trampas Peak. After a great deal of huffing and puffing, and "Wait a while for poor old Mom," we finally hit the summit and witnessed the most beautiful view of the entire area. You don't really have to go far to see the mountains of Marin and what we guessed might be the ocean.

The proud hikers were then ready for the trip down. But what happened to our nice little path?

We were stuck with the prospect of heading right through the under brush to get back down the hill. Mother followed reluctantly, muttering, "I told you so."

Shrubs of poison oak

The poison oak was so thick that it was impossible to avoid contact with our bare legs and arms. Only Scout Dan was prepared with long pants and hiking shoes.

We ended up on our own lawn with a slightly squashed chicken lunch. And all the scrubbing and the soaping and the showering in the world could not wash off the poisonous poison oak.

But don't let this tale of woe keep you from heading for the hills.

The trails on Mt. Diablo, right in our back yard, offer some of the finest hikes in the entire area.

And there is always nearby Mt. Tamalpais. We are climbing up the mountain for the annual Mountain Play this Sunday. But you can be sure of one thing—we will stick to the open trail.

POOL RESOURCES

Dear Editor:

It might interest some of your readers to know that during the current fund-raising drive for the Del Valle High School pool there has been a general lack of interest shown by businesses and residents of Lafayette.

Many comments have been made to students who are soliciting funds to the effect that, "Let Walnut Creek build their own pool."

I thought your readers should know that 50 per cent of the students at Del Valle High School in Walnut Creek reside in Lafayette, and the forecast for the future indicates that this percentage will increase. Since these pools will be made available to the public during the summer months on a self-sustaining basis and the pools available to the public in the area are presently overcrowded, let's get behind this drive.

Please send checks to Del Valle High School Pool Fund, 1963 Tice Valley Boulevard, Walnut Creek.

POOL COMMITTEE

SHOCKED

Dear Editor:

We are students at Diablo Valley College. And are interested in the administrative aspect governing our college.

We attended the April 23, 1962, meeting of the governing board of the Contra Costa Junior College District. We are shocked and disturbed at the attitude displayed by the board chairman, William Kretzmer, toward our superintendent, Dr. McCunn and citizens attending the meeting.

To our knowledge these meetings are public and taxpayers have a right to question, without rude reply, the business before the board.

We also feel that an educator of Dr. McCunn's stature and the selfless contribution which he has made to this junior college district are more than worthy of Kretzmer's respect. Kretzmer's complete lack of common courtesy was a discredit not only to himself but to other members of the board.

MIKE CORAGLOTTI

PAY RAISE

Dear Editor,

I was more disgusted than surprised to learn that a project is in the making for a flat $50 a month increase across-the-board for all county employees, which, if granted, would give Contra Costa the expensive and doubtful distinction of paying the highest salaries of any county in the Bay Area.

The reason I am not surprised is that I was saddled with a 52 per cent increase in property taxes this year, amounting to $259; and this one-year boost came on top of a succession of increases which raised our taxes $445, or 142 per cent, in the last nine years.

The pay-boost talk only confirms a well grounded suspicion, namely, that the county money managers are too free and easy with other people's money—in this case the taxpayers' money.

This year's swollen receipts have hardly reached the county's bank account before the money managers are entertaining grand ideas of how to get rid of it.

The plush pay-boost under consideration, as I am informed, would pave the way for another tax hike next year of perhaps 12 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

May I submit for your consideration this proposition: that no pay-boost be granted which would add one cent to future tax bills; that if there is to be any upping of salaries let the recipients of the raise first find the money in savings and economies of administration. And these savings should not be accomplished by lopping off some essential service, but by getting a bigger dollar's worth for every dollar spent.

In short, treat county tax money as though it all came out of your own pocket.

Mrs. Douglas Gilked of Orinda is chairman of the event with Mrs. John W. Purvis, Jr., branch chairman, in charge of decorations.

Tanager Tickled Pink

A palate of pinks from pastels to magenta decorated Orinda Country Club Tuesday afternoon. Tanager Unit of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center presented "Tickled Pink," a fashion show-luncheon.

Oleg Cassini's casuals from Imports by Hazl of Orinda were shown to a crowd which overflowed the dining room into the sun room. Mrs. Edward Thomas was chairman for the event.

The artistic decor on each table featured sun hats made of paper plates tied with wide pink satin streamers; shocking pink and white pebbles; sun glasses and programs swept with fish net and seashells. Mrs. John Goldeen and Mrs. David Coleman and their committee should have been tickled pink with the artistry of their decorations.

Mrs. J. Rockwell Smith, president of the unit, gave guests greetings after a delectable lunch ending with a pink strawberry parfait. Mrs. James L. MacDonald was commentator.

Posters were chairmained by Mrs. Gordon Schmidt, Mrs. John Dorward had charge of tickets; Mrs. John Goldeen, publicity, and Mrs. Richard Leland, door prizes.

Lovely models from units of the center included Mrs. Ralph Graham (Quails), Harold Vincent (Flickers), Gil Meacham (Hummingbirds), William Brobeck (Tanagers) and Glen Hixon (Hummingbirds).

Other mannequins were Mrs. Russell Bennett, Mrs. Jack Kirby and Mrs. Robert Richard. Nan Barich of the Village Square Casuals modeled swim suits from her store to perfection.

Proceeds will be used to augment the physical and occupational therapy program at the center. Best of all, the children who will benefit are tickled pink!

Knights Finish Second in DVAL-FAL Track Meet

Paced by Dick McCoy's wins in the two sprint events, Las Lomas finished a surprising second in the Diablo Valley Athletic League-Foothill Athletic League meet last Friday at Pittsburg.

As expected, the hosts Pirates walked off with the inter-league title by scoring 51 points. The Knights finished with 36 points.

Five meet records were set and two tied before the afternoon was over. Overall, the DVAL had seven winners and the FAL had six.

Dave Dunning, Chuck Bray, Loran Speck were the local record setters.

Dunning, of Miramonte, was three-tenths of a second slower than his record-setting mark in the FAL meet a week earlier, but his time of 1:56.6 clipped .5 off the old WVAL-FAL mark.

BRAY of Pleasant Hill continued his record-setting ways also. Again it was Dave Dornis's (Acalanes, 1961) record he lowered in the shot put.

Bray's heave of 57-1 bettered the old mark of 55-5½. Speck of College Park, who finished third in the shot put, threw the discus 150-8½ to erase the old mark of 148-9½.

Other record setters were Rich Clough of Mt. Diablo (in the 120 high hurdles) and Bobby Stamps of Pittsburg (in the broad jump).

Clough and the Las Lomas relay team of McCoy, Larry Gabie, Chris Nakano and Perry Conner also tied records.

Clough and McCoy were the only double winners. Stamps scored 16 points and he was the top individual point-getter. Pittsburg easily won the B competition, scoring 60½ points to Piedmont's 35.

COMPLETE RESULTS

VARSITY SCORING: Pittsburg, 51; Las Lomas, 36; Mt. Diablo, 23; Piedmont, 21½; College Park, 20; Clayton Valley, 20; Pleasant Hill, 19; Pacifica, 15; Miramonte, 12½; Del Valle, 10; Alhambra, 8; Albany, 8; Acalanes, 5; Livermore, 2; San Ramon, 1.

Gymnastics: An Individual's Sport

By JOE MCCARTHY

Two area high schools are competing in a sport that is as old as Greece, and as competitive and rewarding as any sport that man has ever participated in.

The schools are College Park and Pleasant Hill. The sport is gymnastics.

More than 25 years ago, gymnastics was introduced as a varsity sport in four East Bay high schools. The league—unofficially titled the Northern California Gymnastics Association—now encompasses 17 teams, nine in the East Bay Division, and eight in the West Bay Division.

In this sport, individual boys compete in eight events listed in this order: Horizontal bar, free exercise, rope climb, trampoline, still rings, parallel bars, side horse, and tumbling.

One individual does not necessarily participate in all the events, but would be more apt to specialize in one, or as many as three events.

IT IS DIFFICULT to understand how a sport with such a history in this area could be so unfamiliar to the inhabitants of this area. Attendance records—the major basis in determining the popularity of any sport—prove that the people of this area are either ignorant of the existence of the sport, or that they are just plain apathetic.

If the latter were true it would be a sad thing indeed, since this sport, more than any other, aids in the development of the whole body, the whole man.

The Northern California High School Gymnastics Championship Tournament will be held at College Park High School today at 7 p.m.

Competing in this event will be the top qualifying athletes from the East Bay, West Bay, and Sacramento sections of the Northern California Gymnastics Association.

Young Rae Anders of College Park, the amazing sophomore trampolinist who won the East Bay Division crown in his event with perhaps the outstanding single performance of the evening, will be aiming for a repeat performance in the finals.

Admission for the tournament will be $1 for adults, 50 cents for students, and 25 cents for children under 12.

Through gymnastics, a boy learns self confidence, perseverance, determination, and achieves a very great amount of personal satisfaction.

The routines which a boy performs require very persistent practice, and as he develops skill in the particular feats he takes pride in his ability to do these things, he realizes that he could not have accomplished these things without constant practice, and he appreciates the lesson that he has learned in persistence.

As the boy performs the routine that he personally has developed against other boys from other schools, he fully comprehends the total meaning of the word competition. This is not a sport at which one can relax or "sandbag."

THE BOY must be constantly aware of the fact that there is only one first place to be awarded, and that there is no one that can help him to gain that position but himself. He must do all that is in his power to prove that he is the most proficient in his event.

He realizes that he, an individual, is competing with other individuals that are just as eager to prove to others and themselves they are the best in the event.

Coaches Howard Moorman of College Park, and Jim Parth of Pleasant Hill say that gymnastics is a very unique sport.

While there is exceptionally keen competition on the individual level, there is close to what might be called a fraternal spirit among competitors. The mechanics of one boy's routine are completely open to the inspection of his opponents.

Boys who will be opposed to each other in a meet freely and gladly pass information about mastering a particular skill among themselves.

It is not necessary to comment upon the value of that procedure.

BALANCE, strength, flexibility, and agility are the major faculties developed from gymnastics. To these can be added the attributes and advantages that have been explained above. Combined they serve to develop a boy as fully as can possibly be expected of any sport.

Gymnastics concentrates mainly on developing upper-body strength. This area of physical development is drastically neglected in the majority of youths today. It is precisely this area that President Kennedy has endorsed in his wide-spread physical fitness campaign.

Unlike the more popular sports of today, where a boy must be of a certain size before he is encouraged to compete, gymnastics is open to the very average sized boy that is too short to make the basketball squad, or too light to play football.

In this sport his size will work to his advantage, for it is necessary for the boy to be able to lift his own weight gracefully and for definite periods of time, and the boy who is lighter can accomplish this much more easily than the hefty.

The top high school gymnasts are now competing in the annual Northern California league tournaments.

The scheduling of these tournaments are listed in this paper.

It might be a good idea for the athletic directors of the other area schools in this area to investigate this sport now to see if it would be advantageous to work gymnastics into their particular athletic curriculum.

Play Ball in WC Sunday; PH Leagues Open June 16

By HEC HANCOCK

Opening day ceremonies Sunday at Civic Field in Walnut Creek will mark the start of play for the seventh season for the Walnut Creek Junior Baseball Leagues.

When the traditional cry of "play ball" rings out, not only will it mean the beginning of the season for over 600 youngsters, but it also means that approximately 600 families in the Walnut Creek area will shift to a way of life dictated by the baseball schedule.

From now until the curtain rings down on the season July 27, the normal routines of those with baseball heroes in their midst will be completely shattered. For the next two months it will be a series of early dinners, followed by a frantic dash to the ball park for either games or practice. At times it will entail late dinners following the titanic struggles on the field of honor.

Vacation schedules in many cases will have to be juggled. Base hits will become the basis for family celebrations. Hitless evenings, or few omissions of commission will precede periods of deep gloom.

Many, mostly parents, will begin to wonder about July if it is worth all the fuss and bother. However, about that time, remember that when you get your youngster back August 1, in most cases he's going to be better for his summer baseball experience.

For many it will be their first taste of competition, for some it will be their only exposure. Those on the winning teams are going to enjoy the forthcoming season the most. However, one and all will be exposed to valuable lessons in sportsmanship, team play, as well as learning a few baseball skills.

Opening day ceremonies, when each of the 51 teams are represented, is always a very colorful affair. It is even more impressive when you consider that each of the teams represented is there by the generous contribution of a local merchant or service organization.

The contribution from the sponsors provides the bulk of the funds that enable the program to be self-sustaining. Certainly, these fine people are deserving of a word of thanks.

It would be a wonderful gesture if those with youngsters in the program made it a point to express their appreciation with a word of thanks to the sponsor as the occasion arises.

Over in Pleasant Hill, the baseball season won't get under way until Saturday morning, June 16, at Pleasant Hill Park. Jointly sponsored by the Pleasant Hill Baseball Association and the Pleasant Hill Recreation District, over 900 youngsters will participate, with 54 teams to be represented.

Robert Welliver, president, reported that the association will have a dinner on June 1 at the Concord Inn for the sponsors, managers and coaches. The association has made this affair an annual event. Bob Anderson of the Pleasant Hill Recreation District feels the gesture is well taken by the sponsors, as there hasn't been a sponsor drop out of the program because of dissatisfaction.

A dinner for managers and coaches is slated for July 14. Coming right in the middle of the season, this could well serve to ease any pressures that might have been building.

This Saturday, the Pleasant Hill Baseball Association is conducting a clinic for managers and coaches under the guidance of Ted Abbott, College Park baseball coach. The clinic will be conducted Saturday morning at the Pleasant Hill Park.

Devils Clinch CCD Flag; Rams, Falcons Both Lose

There was never really much doubt, but Mt. Diablo made it official, defeated second-place Clayton Valley, 2-0, to clinch the Contra Costa Division baseball title.

The two teams deadlocked for the CCD title last year.

Except for a mid-season slump when they tied a game with Antioch and lost to Pleasant Hill, the Devils have asserted their authority in the CCD.

Tuesday, Bob Armstrong hurled a three-hitter for the Red Devils who broke a scoreless game with a run in the fifth.

IN ANOTHER game Tuesday, College Park continued its tailspin, absorbing an 8-1 defeat from Antioch.

The Falcons ended CCD play with a 3-9 mark.

CONTRA COSTA DIVISION

	W	L	T	GB
Mt. Diablo	9	1	1
Clayton Valley	7	4	0	2½
Antioch	6	4	1	3
Pittsburg	6	5	0	3½
Pleasant Hill	5	6	0	4½
College Park	3	9	0	7
Pacifica	2	9	0	7½

(Does not include games played yesterday.)

Another CCD game Tuesday saw Pleasant Hill's winning ways end as Pittsburg scored an 11-3 win.

The loss ruined the Rams' chances of moving up in the final standings. With only one game to be played (yesterday) the Rams are 5-6 and Pitt, 6-5.

The Falcons outthit Antioch, 9-6, and scored first, but Antioch posted six runs in the second to put the game away.

Mickey Sytkowski, Bob Ament and Dennis Whalen each had two singles for College Park. Sytkowski's single drove home the only run in the second. However, Sytkowski couldn't hold the one-run lead and was driven from the mound by the Antioch uprising the same inning.

San Ramon Keeps Pace With Dons In FAL Golf

San Ramon clinched to second place in Foothill League golf Tuesday with an 8-1 win over winless Del Valle (0-8).

San Ramon is now 5-2 with a disputed match with league-leading Acalanes still unresolved. The Dons (6-0) were scheduled to meet Miramonte (4-3), last year's champion, yesterday afternoon.

In the other league match Monday, Las Lomas (3-4-1) and Piedmont (3-4-1) settled nothing in their battle for fourth place as they tied, 4½-4½.

Pete Dozier, San Ramon's No. 1 man, fired a 39 to take medalist honors for the day. John DeLaveaga lost to Dozier, but his 42 was the best of Del Valle.

DON DUFOSEE was the lone Del Valle point-winner. He shot a 45 to edge the Wolves' Scott Beem, Tom White, Dave Rossi, Randy Hammond and Jim Ligenfelter were the other San Ramon winners.

The Wolves also took all three best ball matches.

The Knights' No. 2 man, Mike Williamson, fired a 37 to take medalist honors in the other FAL match. He edged Dave Jones for his point.

Jim Roessler, No. 1, fired a 38 and beat Jim Hughes (41), while Mike Koefler (40) beat Chuck Cabrera (44) for the third Las Lomas point in the six individual matches.

Roessler and Williamson combined to win their best ball match for the fourth Las Lomas point, but Ted Roessler-Mike Koefler split and Dave Jones-Bill Rigney bowed in their match.

Gymnastics Meet Won by Berkeley; Falcons Are 3rd

College Park's gymnastics team finished third in the East Bay Division of the Northern California Gymnastic Association championship held last Friday at Pacifica.

Berkeley edged Pacifica, 168½-154½ to win the crown. The Falcons scored 60½ points. Mt. Diablo was fourth with 52 points while Pleasant Hill scored eight points and settled for eighth place in the nine-team field.

Rae Anders of College Park was the only local winner as Pacifica and Berkeley dominated the meet.

Pacifica had four firsts and Berkeley grabbed the other three.

Anders took his first in the trampoline.

All five finalists will be competing against the West Bay in the league championships today at College Park.

Local Player Almost Pulls Tennis Upset

Sixth-seeded Cliff Mayne of Lafayette advanced to final round of the California State Tennis Championships before Davis Cupper Whitney Reed upended him, 10-8, 3-6, 6-2, 11-9, in a bitterly-contested match.

Reed was seeded first in the annual tourney and is the top-ranked player in the nation. Mayne surprised everyone by defeating second-seeded Jim McManus of Berkeley, 7-5, 6-8, 6-4, in the semi-finals. He had gained the round by defeating Bill Hepner of San Francisco, 6-0, 6-3.

In Tuesday's other action, San Ramon edged Piedmont, 4-3. Acalanes opened its FAL tennis season last week with a 6-1 win over Las Lomas. Miramonte has shut out Del Valle and Piedmont so far.

THIS PLAY touched off a rhubarb between the Del Valle team and the umpires. Trojan Randy Quadros is shown as he prepares to hit first base while Las Lomas first baseman Bill Casper grabs the throw from third baseman Rick Lavin. Del Valle claimed Casper had his foot off the bag when he got the ball and the picture seems to back that argument. The out, the third of the inning, killed a potential Del Valle uprising in the first frame of last week's FAL game. The Knights won, 4-0.

Las Lomas Is Second in North Coast Swimming

Fritz Von Tagen and Bob Strand paced Las Lomas to a second place finish in the North Coast Division I meet held last weekend at Antioch.

The two local swimmers were the only winners from the Foothill League. Contra Costa Division champs Pleasant Hill was the only other local entry to get a first place.

The Knights finished second with 40 points. They trailed winning Berkeley by 30 points, however.

PLEASANT HILL finished fourth with 35 points. The Rams' 200-yard freestyle relay team won with a record-setting time of 1:35.8. Glen Graham, John Malley, Pete Hall and Paul Murphy made up the relay team.

Von Tagen was a winner in the 50-yard freestyle with a time of 23.6.

Strand took his first in the 100-yard backstroke (1:00.9) and then finished second in the 200-yard individual medley.

Berkeley's victory was paced by Dick Jacobberger who scored a pair of wins for the favored Yellowjackets. Tom Jochums, who teams with Jacobberger on the Aquabears swim team, scored the other individual win for Berkeley and the Yellowjackets picked up another first in the 200-yard medley relay.

Antioch was the winner in the B competition scoring 41 points. Miramonte was second with 39 while San Ramon came in fourth with 23.

BOB SAVAGE of Miramonte was a double winner in the B's. Norm Rhet of San Ramon was another local winner.

Dons Edge Alhambra in FAL 'Crucial' Tuesday

Acalanes won the big one Tuesday and opened some daylight in its quest for the Foothill League baseball title.

The Dons edged Alhambra, 4-3, to all but eliminate the defending champions.

Acalanes is now 6-1-1. Yesterday afternoon, the Dons were scheduled to play Piedmont, the hapless tailenders who have yet to win this year.

In second place is Las Lomas with a 6-3 record.

In order for the Knights to grab the top spot, the Dons will have to lose two of their final three games and the Knights would need three straight wins.

ACALANES has San Ramon, Miramonte and Del Valle in that order for its final three games. Las Lomas meets Alhambra, Piedmont and San Ramon in its final games.

The Mats are in third place with a 5-3-1 record. They have won once in their last five outings after posting four straight wins.

Del Valle	2	6	0	4½
Piedmont	0	9	0	7

(Does not include games played yesterday.)

The Mats are still in the race mathematically, but a complete collapse by the Dons is needed if anyone is going to overtake them.

San Ramon and Alhambra are both 5-4 and tied for the fourth spot. The Wolves edged lowly Piedmont, 3-2, in 10 innings Tuesday for its fifth win.

Tuesday, Las Lomas crushed the faltering Matadors, 11-3, to take over the second spot.

THERE ARE no games scheduled in the FAL Tuesday.

Thursday, Acalanes hosts tough San Ramon; Las Lomas hosts Alhambra, and Del Valle eyes another win against Piedmont in Walnut Creek.

After grabbing a 1-0 lead in the first inning, the Dons scored single runs in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings for the win.

Bob Gillham's sixth-inning single scored John Paul Jones to break a 3-3 tie.

The Dons had seven hits to five for the Bulldogs.

Pete Schneider of Acalanes had a solo homerun and two RBIs for Acalanes.

DOUG WOLTER went the distance for Alhambra while Brian Allen was the starter, finisher and winner for Acalanes.

At Orinda, the visiting Knights scored in every inning but the fourth and built up a 9-0 lead, before Miramonte got on the scoreboard.

Mike Breuleux' three hits paced the Knights' 12-hit attack. Bob Krieder got the win for Las Lomas, going the first five innings. Larry Bradford finished up.

The Mets got seven hits, two by Bob Williams and two by Bruce Nickerson. Nickerson's second single of the day drove home the first two Miramonte runs.

At Danville, San Ramon got just one hit—but the game's lead-off man—but still managed to score a 3-2 win over Piedmont in 10 innings.

The Wolves tied the game, 1-1, in the fifth inning on a two-base error, a stolen base by Rich Johnson and a sacrifice fly by Fred Adams.

A walk, a stolen base by Gary Johnson and an error gave the Last Thursday in Foothill League baseball, Las Lomas shutout Del Valle, 4-0; Miramonte drubbed Piedmont, 16-1, and Alhambra whitewashed San Ramon, 3-0.

Larry Bradford pitched a four-hitter for Las Lomas while Bob Krieder and Larry Reardon collected run-scoring hits.

Pete Boyle and Randy Thomas combined to hurl the Mats past Piedmont while Doug Wolter was throwing a one-hitter at San Ramon.

Wolves a 2-2 tie in the sixth.

The winning run came home when the Piedmont catcher threw wildly on a pickoff attempt after a pair of walks put two men on.

It was the second straight game San Ramon has been limited to one hit.

Large Turnout Indicated For Today's Symposium

A large number of reservations have been received for Symposium '62, report chairmen of the Diablo Valley College Faculty Association, which is sponsoring the discussion meeting being held today.

The topic of this year's symposium, fourth in the series of annual meetings for educators and the general citizenry, is "What Makes a College Good?"

"The enthusiastic community response being given the symposium reflects the public's great concern with the problem of excellence in education," states Lee Armstrong, faculty association president.

"And many people are pleased to have an opportunity not only to hear well-informed men discuss this problem, but also to express their own ideas and to ask questions," he added.

Appearing as a panel of experts who will speak from their own experience and in response to issues raised by the audience will be Dr. Martin Trow, professor of sociology and member of the Center for the Study of Higher Education of the University of California, who will present the research man's point of view.

Keith Merrill, assistant director of the University of California Office of Relations with Schools, will present the administrator's point of view, and William Kretzmer, president of the Contra Costa Junior College District Governing Board, will discuss the problem from the community viewpoint. The moderator will be John Porterfield of the Diablo Valley College social science faculty.

The dinner meeting will be held at 6 p.m. in the DVC student activities building.

Area Sends 10 Delegates to Heart Meeting

Ten delegates and alternates have been named by Dr. Peter Kunkel, president of the Contra Costa County Heart Association, for the annual meeting of the California Heart Association to be held this weekend at Rickey's Studio Inn in Palo Alto.

Dr. Kunkel announced the following members as delegates and alternates: Dr. Marvin Epstein, Dr. Charles J. Hart, Mrs. W. B. Marschner, Dr. Floyd Marchus, Dr. Herbert Packard and Dr. Frederick Pellegrin, Walnut Creek; Dr. James F. Embick and Martin Paley, Richmond; Dr. Irving Fien, Concord, and Mrs. Harold Powell, Lafayette. Dr. Kunkel will also serve as a delegate.

18 Scout Units Planned

Eighteen new scouts are being organized in the Diablo Valley at this time, with first steps of organization being taken during a "Together Dinner" program recently at the Oak Grove Intermediate School.

Robert A. Nelson, mayor of Walnut Creek, is chairman of the "Together Committee" which is assisting the organizing committees of from five to seven men each from the potential sponsoring groups.

Four Cub Scout packs, 12 Boy Scout troops, and two Explorer Scout troops, according to Nelson, are in the preliminary stages. Three of the packs will be in Concord, and one in Pleasant Hill. Troops are divided, with four in Pleasant Hill, one in Martinez, four in Concord, two in Walnut Creek, one in Danville, Pleasant Hill and Danville each will have a new Explorer Post.

ORGANIZERS who have made contacts with the heads of the new sponsoring institutions are directed by three new units committee chairmen: Alison Haun of Danville, for Meridian District; James Flesher of Concord, and Richard Jenkins of Pleasant Hill for John Muir District.

In Danville the potential sponsors are the First Baptist Church and St. Isadore's Catholic Church; in Walnut Creek, the Hillside Covenant Church and the Grace Presbyterian Church.

"The snow depth in their Sierra watershed tells East Bay Water people how much spring runoff to expect. This is vital for their long-range plans."

"Measurements of the snow depth by survey teams on skis often took a week in remote areas. Today the airplane-camera combination cuts time and expense."

"Now, in two short hours of flying, we take photos of all the snow markers. By studying these pictures, planners can forecast your next year's supply of pure water."

"I'm proud to play a small part in East Bay Water's immense job of providing pure, clean mountain water for our fast-growing communities."

Yesterday, skis. Today, airplanes. Tomorrow, who knows? We're open to new ideas. At East Bay Water, we're always looking for new ways to serve you more efficiently. Whatever is useful, practical and proved better becomes standard procedure.

Your $283-million Water Development Program has many faces: new aqueducts, new reservoirs, advanced automation. But it also involves constant improvement of operating methods. The aerial snow survey is one of the many ways we continue to bring you pure, good-tasting water at the lowest possible cost.

DeTurk Says Park Bond Issues Popular

Every state in the union that has placed park and recreation bond issues on the ballot in recent years has seen those issues approved by healthy margins, according to Director Charles A. DeTurk of the State Department of Parks and Recreation.

DeTurk, in commenting on California's $150,000,000 State Park and Recreation Bond Act—Proposition 5 on the June 5th primary ballot, said people across the country are becoming increasingly conscious of the need for protected and developed outdoors recreational areas.

He noted that in recent years such states as New Jersey, Kentucky, Pennsylvania and Michigan have asked voters to approve such bond issues and the voters have willingly done so.

"Right now," DeTurk added, "New York state is seeking another $25,000,000 from her voters for park and recreational facilities."

DeTurk said that Californians have long recognized the need for developing and maintaining a first-rate state park system.

"In 1928," he said, "the last time that a bond issue of this nature appeared on the ballot, no California county failed to approve it pay less than 2-to-1 margin."

The 1928 bond proposal, for $6 million, was approved by 73 per cent of California's voters.

Homestead Act Stamp Prompts Ceremonies

Presentation of Walnut Creek's first copies of a new U.S. postage stamp commemorating the 100th anniversary of the Homestead Act that spurred the widespread private ownership of property will mark the breakfast meeting of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board at the Elks Club, Monday according to J. N. Smith, president of the board.

Recipients of the specially mounted blocks of the new stamps—which is in the 4 cent denomination—from Postmaster Lawrence Bornholtz, will include the mayors of Concord, Pleasant Hill, and Walnut Creek; State Senator George Miller, and Assemblyman Jerome Waldie.

The new stamp is available for widespread distribution for the first time today.

Summer Color Should Be Planned Now

May is the month for the gardener to quit thinking about spring and turn his thoughts to summer. For in May the summer spectrum of bedding plants is planned and planted, and to let the month slip by is to rob yourself of certain pleasure later on.

It's not that you couldn't have planted summer bedders last month not that others won't be available in June. But May is the peak month for warm weather bedding plants, and nurserymen have their widest selections to offer.

The California Association of Nurserymen lists asters, marigolds, petunias, zinnias, dwarf phlox, stocks, snapdragons, dwarf dahlias, verbena, lobelia and ageratum as the list toppers for May planting. Pansies are still available and such standbys as salvia, cosmos and celosia are also to be found.

The appealing thing about these annual bedding plants is the ease with which a beginning gardener can grow them. He need only follow the simple rules of keeping them watered and pinched back to enjoy their riotous bloom a few short weeks after planting. None of this intirminable waiting for results.

Mulch Soil Now

Mulching to conserve moisture in the soil should begin this month. Use wet peat moss or steer manure or wood shavings.

Gerbera Is in Bloom

Gerbera or transvaal daisies will be found in bloom at nurseries. Be sure to give them perfect drainage and do not plant too deep.

Control Crabgrass

Crabgrass is more easily controlled before it has a good foothold. Watch for the young plants and ask your nurseryman to recommend a control.

tion of Real Estate Boards throughout the country, has designated Monday as "Homestead Day, Press and Education Day."

"We think it is singularly appropriate for realtors to take part with the Department of the Interior in marking the passage of the Homestead Act in 1862," Smith said.

"Virtually all historians have described the enactment of this legislation as a turning point in American history. Briefly, the act made it possible for thousands of citizens to establish homes and farms on public lands."

"The only requirement was five years of residence on the land to which they later acquired full title."

"With this act, the United States embarked on a new land policy—the attainment of the greatest possible diffusion of real property ownership among its citizens. Ever since 1862 the nation has remained faithful to this ideal, and I am glad to say, realtors have been in the front rank of those who espouse it in principle and deed."

SMITH ADDED that the preamble to the NAREB Code of Ethics to which every realtor is pledged states:

"Under all is the land. Upon its wise utilization and widely allocated ownership depend the survival and growth of free institutions and of our civilization."

"Largely as a result of the Homestead Act of 1862, many million acres of vacant land were transformed into homes and farms by the end of the last century," Smith recalled.

"As of today, more than six out of 10 families own their own homes, and many of the purchase transactions were completed through realtors."

"IT WOULD be no exaggeration to say that the Homestead Act laid the foundation of national greatness and that the realtors have been among those who continued to build on that foundation to the benefit of our people and our country," said Smith.

In addition to the mayors among other dignitaries who will be guests of the local board at the breakfast meeting will be representatives of each high school, and County Superintendent of Schools Floyd Marchus, county supervisors, assemblymen and State Senator George Miller.

School representatives will receive a special oil painting marking homestead centennial. Local newspapers will also be honored on the occasion.

Jewish Center Teaching Staff To Be Honored

Rabbi David Robins' sermon topic for tonight at the Contra Costa Jewish Community Center, 3800 Mt. Diablo Boulevard in Lafayette, will be "Teach Me Something."

Cantor Henri Goldberg will render the musical part of the service which begins at 8:30.

This service will honor the members of the teaching staff of the religious school.

The school committee, of which Al Koch is chairman, will be hosts at the reception for the teachers immediately after the service is concluded.

Your Garden

Better Results from Bedders

Green horn and green thumb alike—can take a tip from the professionals, when it comes to getting better-than-average results from out bedding plants.

Nurserymen claim that too many gardeners get less than the best simply because they fail to get bedding plants off to a good start.

A good start in this case means spading up a good deep planting bed. Six inches is not deep enough to work the soil and even a foot can be improved upon. If soil is poor, the addition of steer manure at this time will be a necessary step. Where deep spading is impossible, as when annuals are planted in a rich garden, use a trowel and work the soil as deeply as possible. Give the young plants a good foothold.

DELICIOUS!

"The Lemon Snow Cake," it's a beautiful white chiffon, three layer cake with a blend of lemon custard and whipped cream filling and it's specially priced during "Carnival of Bargains"... doubly tempting. Other chiffons on the special are "Creme de Cocoa," "Black and White" and "Bon Chiffon," and they are as good as they sound. Ask for the Chiffon Special at STINNETT'S PASTRY SHOP, 1236 S. Broadway, Walnut Creek... where they say, "even Angels love our Devil's Food cake."

HERE'S A NEW TWIST

Our favorite shoe repair man, Van, of VAN METER'S SHOE REPAIR, 1254 Broadway, says, now that women's shoes have dagger toes and stiletto heels maybe he could do a good business in putting safety toes on men's dancing shoes. Actually "fragile" spike heels are pretty strong. I read somewhere that there is more stress on that 1/2 square inch of heel, worn by an average woman, than there is on the foundation of the Empire State building, relatively speaking that is. "Step on a crack, break your mother's back" is no longer mere superstition, and that goes for a grate, too, ask her. But then speaking of superstition, Van says, he thinks it is diminishing all over the world. Just keep your fingers crossed, he says, and maybe it will go away.

Carnival of Bargains

From the circus lot to the sales counter is a quick step with Broadway Shopping Center offering a Carnival of Bargains all this week.

"All of our stores are cooperating to make this the greatest event of its kind in our history," asserted B. K. Horne, chairman of the Broadway Merchants Association.

"We've been preparing for the Carnival of Bargains since last November and every participating merchant has lined up bargains that are as fantastic as any of the breath-taking circus acts," Horne pointed out.

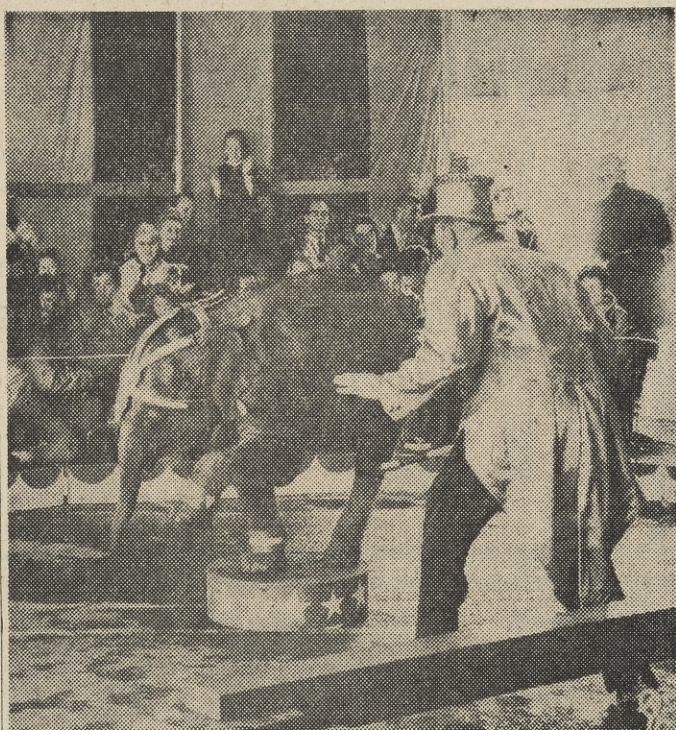

Circus decorations may be seen throughout the Broadway Shopping Center area which is immediately adjacent to the circus and carnival show grounds.

The Sun's famous clown has proved a hit with the shoppers as he provides balloons for the youngsters and special copies of the Carnival of Bargains shopping section to the adults.

There's an extra treat at each store and shop in the Broadway region. Customers are being given special discount tickets, good for rides at the West Coast Shows.

This, coupled with circus admission by certain national food products labels, makes the big event one of the least expensive ever offered.

"All of the merchants are en-

The Oregon and California Advisory Committee was formed in 1938 to aid the General Land Office in administering the Western Oregon forests.

By 1952 the management of the Bureau of Land Management had replaced a $10.7 million deficit in the U.S. Treasury caused by the Oregon and California grant lands.

Culverting Creek Will Boost Center

Although there has been some reduction of parking space currently, the total will be more than doubled when the present culverting of Las Trampas Creek is completed at the Broadway Shopping Center.

The half-million-dollar project is already well underway with wooden fences erected to provide plenty of "elbow-room" for the employees of Swinnerton and Walberg Construction Company which has the contract.

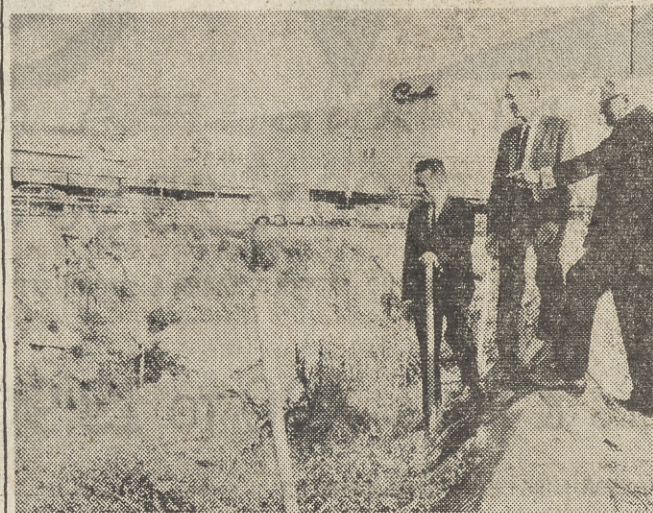

Edith Apgar, a leading figure in the development of the shopping center, said her firm—MacDonald Products—would probably double the facilities of the center after the culverting is complete.

Miss Apgar disclosed the expansion plans three weeks ago, just prior to leaving on a European tour. She said she would combine business with pleasure on the trip to bring back new merchandising ideas and new thoughts in architectural development.

The Broadway Shopping Center was highly enthusiastic over the culverting which is expected to be finished the middle of next year.

CIRCUS Week in Walnut Creek

CULVERTING of Las Trampas Creek in the Broadway Shopping Center area is given approval by three of the leaders of that popular marketing region. Inspecting the preliminary work on the $500,000 project are, left to right, Phil Phillips, Kushins store manager; B. K. Horne, chairman of the Broadway Merchants Association, and George Webster, president of the Walnut Creek Area Chamber of Commerce. Sun photo by Bob Rush.

Broadway Stores Open In Evenings

Stores in the Broadway Shopping Center are open Monday and Friday nights, and most of the larger stores are also open Thursday night, according to B. K. Horne, chairman of the Broadway Merchants Association.

And there is plenty of free parking in any one of the five Broadway lots, said Horne. "Shopping is easy in Broadway due to the excellent parking situation," he added.

The National Park Service Forestry Division was created in 1927.

Sculptor's Work to Be Exhibited

Sculpture in wood by Orinda resident David Clay Jones will be on display during May in the Keith Art Gallery at St. Mary's College, according to Brother James, F.S.C., gallery director. A graduate of the University of California, Jones has been active in art shows in the Bay Area and in Los Angeles. Besides his first place honors in Contra Costa exhibits, he has displayed work in Art Association shows in Oakland. His work is represented in collections in Venice, Paris and Johannesburg, South Africa, as well as in the United States.

Davis Wins at Toastmaster Club Session

Bob Davis won top honors at last Thursday's meeting of the Diablo Toastmasters Club. His speech gave tips on how to select better speaking ideas. The principal speakers were introduced by Hugh Southworth, to Frank Curtis. Table topics were presented. Thoughts are but dreams till by Gene Lundin and the cup for their effects he tried.

Like $50? Tell Why You Prefer Broadway Center

Fifty dollars in merchandise will be given to the person who submits the best statement of 25 words or less completing the phrase: "I like to shop in the Broadway Shopping Center because—"

The $50 merchandise award can be spent in any store in the Broadway Shopping Center or in several of them, according to B. K. Horne, chairman of the Broadway merchants committee.

All entries must be in the mail not later than midnight on May 25 and the winner will be selected by three judges and announced in the June 1 edition of The Sun.

The winning entry will be selected on the basis of originality, aptness of thought and suitability. In case of duplicate entries the one bearing the earliest postmark will be declared the winner.

Contestants should send their statements to the Broadway Shopping Center Editor, care of The Sun, 1320 Locust Street, Walnut Creek.

Decision of the judges will be final. Employees of any of the Broadway Shopping Center firms, MacDonald Products or The Sun and their families are ineligible to participate.

Officers Will Be Installed by Local UN Group

Kellogg's Restaurant in Walnut Creek will be the scene of a banquet to install new officers for the Mt. Diablo Council for the American Association for the United Nations on Thursday at 7 p.m.

The program will feature Ben Seaver, peace secretary of the American Friends Service Committee, who will review some of the peace efforts in the world today and their relationship to the United Nations.

An unusual short film depicting some of the activities of various UN agencies correlated to a recording of Beethoven's "Egmont" will also be shown.

New officers of the Mt. Diablo Council will be installed by Richard Lommel, a past president of the organization.

They are: Robert Shaw, president; Mrs. Mildred Culbertson, first vice-president; Mrs. Louise Camp, second vice-president; Mrs. Kaye Schick, third vice-president; Dr. Allen Longshore, secretary; Ivor Lindberg, treasurer; and Mrs. Lina Lindberg, financial secretary.

Checklist for Gardeners Is Full This Week

This is an ideal time for gardeners to do the following, according to the California Association of Nurserymen:

1. Primroses can be divided and should be if it's been two or three years since they were planted.

2. Weigelia, spiraea and other spring blooming deciduous shrubs can be pruned now that has already flowered, to shape them or to cut them down in size if they are overgrown.

3. May is a good month to improve lawns. Use a weed killer of the type that won't injure grass, then feed. Compacted lawns can be helped most by spiking. Consult your nurseryman.

4. When watering most plants and shrubs avoid frequent sprinklings in favor of long, deep soaking. The same goes for your lawn.

5. Feed roses again this month. Cut faded blooms before they go to seed.

Dwarf Annuals Will Give Quick Color to Garden

Low growing summer annuals seem to be the number one choice of western gardeners in search of quick color.

They are easier to care for than taller growing kinds, says the May Sunset.

They don't need staking, many are naturally spreading and don't need pinching to make them bushy, they keep the weeds down and can be watered from overhead without falling over when they're wet. And if you're looking for quick color they generally come into bloom earlier.

Co-op Art Group To Show Slides

Color slides from DePauw University will be shown at the meeting of the Co-Op Arts and Crafts Guild, Friday evening, in their meeting room at the Co-Op Center on Geary Road in Walnut Creek.

The DePauw color slides will cover the last three arts and crafts displays at the university. They will be of value and interest to all those engaged in, or considering a hobby in this creative field.

Members and friends are urged to attend and to also participate in a white elephant silent auction after the meeting and program.

Dr. Rafferty Speaker for Pleasant Hill

Dr. Max Rafferty, candidate for state superintendent of public instruction, will be guest speaker of the Taxpayers and Parents Associated for Better Education at the Pleasant Hill Elementary School, Wednesday at 8 p.m. His topic will be "Myth of the Average."

Dr. Rafferty has been superintendent of La Canada schools since 1961 and will appear at Pleasant Hill Elementary School in the multi-use room, 2097 Oak Park Boulevard, Pleasant Hill, as the second speaker in a monthly series of educational programs sponsored by the Taxpayers and Parents Associated for Better Education.

In April Dr. Rafferty published his latest book, "Suffer Little Children."

Slagle Speaks Opposition to General Raise

President E. L. Slagle of the Contra Costa County Taxpayers' Association confirmed the continued opposition of the association against any general salary adjustment for county employees.

"Our opposition to a flat dollar amount across-the-board salary increase on any grounds is well-known," said Slagle. "We also wish to make it quite clear that we are opposed to a five per cent increase which is being recommended in some quarters."

"The facts brought out by the county salary survey indicate quite clearly that Contra Costa County salaries already compare quite favorably with the prevailing salary levels, both public and private, in the area."

"If salaries are already high, why raise them higher? We maintain there is no justification for such action. For example, look at what a five per cent adjustment would do to the county's salary scale for a typical job—the position of intermediate typist-clerk. There are 183 county employees on this job."

Board of Education Names New Post Head

Kempton W. Russell, instructor in architecture at Contra Costa College, San Pablo, has been appointed to the newly created position of director of school building planning for the county.

The county board of education confirmed the appointment last week.

Russell will assume the position on July 1. He will assist the school districts of Contra Costa County with site utilization, plans and specifications, contracts, financing and applications for state loans, inspections and the maintenance of the completed buildings.

"RUSSELL FILLS a position created by the board of supervisors this fiscal year," said County Superintendent Floyd Marchus.

The selection was by civil service examination. The salary range is $745-$905 per month.

Now a resident of 7171 Norfolk Road, Berkeley, the new director has had experience as a draftsman, job captain and architect with various San Francisco and East Bay architectural firms, including the firm of Elvin Riley of Concord.

Russell studied architectural engineering at the University of Colorado, engineering at the University of Kentucky and architecture at the University of Oregon, receiving his bachelor's degree from the latter in 1951.

A PART-TIME research position has also been filled by Dr.

Marchus and the county board. David W. Swift Jr. of El Cerrito, an intern in sociology at the University of California, was named to assist Frank Gurley, director of research for Contra Costa County schools.

Music Students Enter Dance Band Contest

Acalanes High School music students have organized a dance band to compete with other school musical groups in a Contra Costa County Stage Band Festival.

Playoffs for the dance band competition are being held on radio K-WUN as a public service.

Members of the Acalanes dance band will air their performance 5:30 to 6 p.m., May 20.

Finals competition following a series of preliminary broadcasts by schools participating in the festival will be held at Pittsburg, 3 p.m., May 27, in the school district Creative Arts Building.

Students from Acalanes who are members of the new aggregation led by music instructor Elvo D'Amante include: Mike Turre, Dan Perego, Duane Leonard, Curt Raschke, Jim Perego, Beezie Moore, Bob Brand, Dick Lee, Jim Work, Ken Jones, Vernon Patterson.

BROADWAY'S WINNER in the KO-VR Girl contest became the over-all winner in competition in Sacramento. She is Sylvia Graff of Walnut Creek, wife of a student and mother of three children.

Sue Ellis Will Be Traveling

Susan B. Ellis of Lafayette is one of 32 students named to be in its fourth year and will be directed by Dr. Charles W. Whittier College in Copenhagen Program, it was announced this week.

There were 90 applicants for next fall's program.

Miss Ellis, a sophomore majoring in history, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Ellis, 3601 Echo Springs.

The overseas study plan will be in its fourth year and will be directed by Dr. Charles W. Cooper, professor at large and assistant to the president.

Six students in the group come from other colleges, including Washington State, George Fox College, Mills College, University of California, and St. Lawrence University.

Demos OK Parks

Contra Costa County Democratic Central Committee has unanimously endorsed the $7.5 million county park bond issue.

The action was taken at the group's last meeting in Martinez.

"The measure will provide money to finance an urgently needed park program for Contra Costa," said committeeman Jack Stoddard of Richmond.

"Preservation of open spaces is of the utmost importance for all residents, including the 120,000 students who attend school in this county."

"The price for parks is very low when you compare it with the benefits to the citizens," he concluded.

THE PARK bond issue, which will be Measure A on the June 5 primary election ballot, calls for $5 million to acquire nine sites totaling nearly 5,000 acres throughout the county and $2.5 million for park development.

County Park Director Duane Mattison predicted the total cost to the average county homeowner for purchase, development and operation of the entire park system will be only about 13 cents per month.

Sites have been planned for Pt. Pinole near Richmond, the Oursan Valley near San Pablo Reservoir, Briones Hills north of Lafayette, Redwood Canyon near Moraga, Buchanan Field Airport near Concord, College Hills in Pleasant Hill, Mallard Slough west of Pittsburg, the Nortonville-Somersville coal mines southwest of Antioch and Marsh Creek southwest of Brentwood.

Mattison said some park sites could be open by 1963 if the bond issue is approved by the voters.

The General Land Office re-established its forestry division on March 19, 1946.

The Oregon and California Re-vested Lands Administration of 1938 established the General Land Office as the official administrator of the Western Oregon forest.

Therapy Center Workers Given 'Traineeships'

"Traineeships," a technical type of scholarship, have recently been awarded to two members of the staff of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center.

John Lyster, vocational counselor for the sheltered workshop of the center, received his traineeship from the Institute of Crippled and Disabled in New York City and the National Rehabilitation Council to attend their conference this month.

The other recipient, Robert Rich, coordinator of services for the center, was granted his traineeship by the same organizations for a three-day coordinators' conference in June.

Lyster, a graduate of San Francisco State College, will do advanced study on the uses of the "Tower" testing system during this time.

Rich has recently returned from a vocational rehabilitation meeting at the University of Oklahoma, where he represented both the therapy center and the clinical supervisors of the University of California.

Four Art Shows Attract Local Night Students

Russ Acalanes night school art students are presently exhibiting paintings in four Northern California art shows during May.

Meanwhile, one student, Mrs. Evelyn Briglia, is presenting her own personal exhibit at the Concord Public Library.

In the Auburn Art Festival, Auburn, which was held May 4-6, the following students exhibited paintings: Bob Allen, Ronald Tinay, Evelyn Briglia, Jerry Kronenberg, Annabelle Shelly, Daisy Wheeler, Pat Cabral, Catherine Flint, George Humphries, Thelma Cecchini, Mrs. Steekbar, June Dalby, Doris Whipple, Les Marquint, J. Brown, Marge Sawyer and Eleanor Corse.

Participants in the art show sponsored by the San Ramon Development and Real Estate Company in Danville, are as follows: Evelyn Briglia, Eleanor Corse, Catherine Flint, J. Fitzgerald, Joe Botinovich, George Humphries, Mary Humphries, Daisy Wheeler, Thelma Cecchini and Diana Reid.

Mrs. Louise Swanson and Mrs. Annabelle Shelly, art students in the Acalanes Adult Education program, also had paintings accepted in two well-known Bay Area art exhibits.

Mrs. Swanson's painting was accepted by the San Francisco Art Institute's 81st annual art exhibit which selects paintings on a nationwide basis. This represents the first known acceptance from this part of the Bay Area.

Mrs. Shelly's work was accepted by the Traveling Art Exhibit of California which is sponsored by the Federation of Women's Clubs, Junior Membership of California.

Mrs. Shelly is one of three artists that represent the Mt. Diablo District.

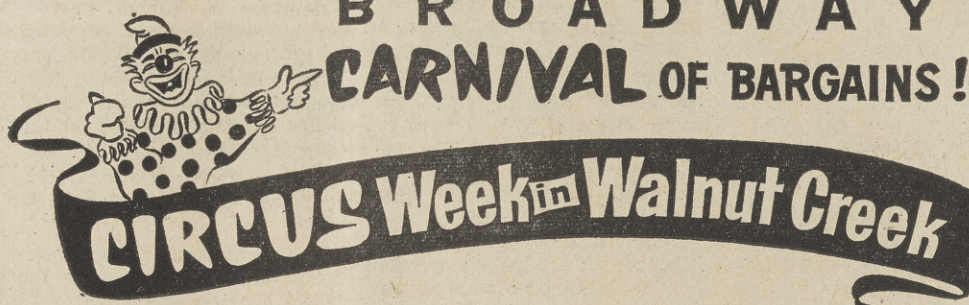

The exhibit will be displayed locally in Walnut Creek during May with a three-day show at the Jack Tar Hotel, San Francisco, on May 24-26.

Jack Holmes Chosen For Honor Society

Jack Holmes of 11 Cresta Blanca, Orinda, has been chosen for membership in Pershing Rifles, army military drill society, at Oregon State University, Corvallis.

Holmes is a freshman in the school of forestry.

BROADWAY CARNIVAL OF BARGAINS!

Volunteer Workers Are Sought for TB Office

Officials have announced renewal of previous activities by new volunteers during the summer months.

"The Junior Trainee Program was put into effect for the first time three years ago," Mrs. Edythe Connolly, executive director of the association, said. "We are constantly improving and adding to our training techniques in order to provide the best possible office experience for our trainees."

"Though the association takes no responsibility for placement, many of the volunteers who worked with us during the past years are now gainfully employed in other offices due to recommendations given for experience gained here.

"Records are kept of each volunteer's progress and at the end of the summer's training period, they are eligible for a letter of recommendation for future monetary employment, based on their individual evaluation."

Volunteers are needed for typing, filing, sorting, labeling, and other general office procedures.

Pound Services Explained

A. L. Seeley, county agricultural commissioner, explained the county's Animal Control Center functions to Pleasant Hill city councilmen recently.

He came at the invitation of Mayor Lenard Grote who said the city is planning to take no action on the matter, but merely wanted information.

Just the announcement of his appearance was enough to bring out the dog lovers and the dog haters.

SEELEY TOLD the councilmen that the services of the center, now in its third year, are supplied at no charge to all cities and all incorporated areas in the county. Twenty-two employees run the two centers in Pinole and Martinez which are open six days a week.

"The Martinez center, which serves Pleasant Hill has a staff of eight officers, one supervisor and two kennelmen. About 50 to 65 per cent of one man's time is taken up by your city," he said.

Seeley outlined the program of the center which covers situations concerning biting animals, barking dogs, removal of dead animals, impounding of strays and unwanted animals, the licensing of animals and the emergency program.

"Money for these services come from licensing fees and impounding fees. The cost of a dog license in this county is $3 for males and spayed females. There is a $5 charge for unspayed females.

"THE REASON for the higher price is that we hope to discourage people from allowing their dogs to have litter after litter of puppies."

Impounding fees are $4 for dogs and $2 for cats, plus a 25 cents a day boarding fee. Purchase prices for animals are the same as the impounding fees.

Seeley said 22,000 animals were "put to sleep" last year. "WE AVERAGE about 70 to 80 calls a day in areas adjacent to each center to pick animals. During the licensing period, the calls run as high as 200 a day.

Explaining that the law requires licensed dogs be held at the pound two weeks and unlicensed ones 72 hours before being disposed of, Seeley said they couldn't possibly pick up all the animals running loose because they haven't enough room to hold them.

Asked about leash laws in this county, Seeley said there are none.

"The law says an animal must be held under reasonable control. This has been defined as within sight and sound of a responsible person."

A MAN who obviously had been at odds with a neighbor's dog asked Seeley what happens when a citizen makes a complaint about a dog.

"The individual must sign a complaint. Then the owner of the animal is cited into court. There is usually some reluctance to sign those complaints. Actually, we issue about 200 to 300 citations a year."

Another interested resident asked if the city couldn't contract for the services of the animal center and do its own licensing.

Seeley replied that, while no other city in the county does it, it was feasible.

The only difficulty, he said, would be to appoint an enforcing officer for the city.

Junior Gray Ladies Are Given Caps

Mrs. Allen Finlayson, supervisor of Oak Park Convalescent Home, conducted the capping ceremonies of the Junior Gray Ladies recently at the chapter house of the Greater Mt. Diablo Chapter, American Red Cross in Walnut Creek.

Mrs. Vernon R. Axelson of Orinda, chairman of the Junior Gray Lady program, announced that each of the following girls had completed 50 hours of service, the requirement for capping. Pam Duncan, Barbara Fuller, Allyson Raymond and Florence Ware of Walnut Creek; Sandra Trimpey and Susan Imig of Lafayette; Cynthia Ballock of Concord; Beth Shepherd and Carolyn Young of Orinda; and Sharon Martin, Dennise Luckner, Denise Glynn and Nancy Glynn of Alamo. Alice Baumfalk of Pleasant Hill received a stripe for one year of service.

These girls have participated in a friendly service program at Pleasant Hill Convalescent Hospital, Oak Park Convalescent Home, and Sunny Hills Sanitarium.

They have written letters, run errands, pushed wheelchairs, set hair, played checkers, and helped in innumerable ways to make a day a little brighter for patients. For this dependable service they have been honored at the capping ceremonies.

Have New Use

Messy jobs can be made less so by using small plastic vegetable bags as emergency work-gloves.

They are water and grease-proof, and do not interfere with the sense of touch.

Last Word in Fashions!

'Broadway' Is County's Center for Apparel

Broadway is the apparel center of Contra Costa County.

"A glance at its list of prestige apparel shops and stores proves this," said B. K. Horne, chairman of the Broadway Merchants Association.

"The customer has more selection of men's, women's and children's apparel of any city in the county or of any shopping center in the East Bay," Horne continued.

"THIS IS, of course, in addition to the wide variety of other types of merchandise available in the famous non-apparel stores, including hardware, appliances, drugs, records, service stores, food, candy and sewing machines."

"Broadway merchants have a right to be proud of their many fashion stores!" Horne declared. The list of distinguished names in fashions and shoes includes Capwell's, Smith's, Kushins, Goldmans, Joseph Magnin, Anita Shop, Karls, Seniors Junior Bootery, Elsie's, Grande's, Kladezee Children's Shop and Pony Tail Shop, Mr. G., Penney's, Grodins, Woolworth's, The Fashion, Sandra Joy Casuals, Albert's Millinery.

"Residents can find high fashions, as well as work clothes. Formal attire as well as sports togs," said Horne.

"THERE IS high-priced apparel, as well as medium and lower prices."

"Represented in all these stores are the most reputable and dependable apparel and shoe brands that we have come to depend upon," Horne continued. "The wonderful part of shopping in Broadway is that if one store doesn't have it, its neighbor undoubtedly will."

"Broadway offers this wide selection in apparel as well as other goods and services," said Horne.

BALDWIN RELIEVES TENSIONS

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Matson of 3160 Lunada Lane, Alamo, are shown at their BALDWIN Organ.

Says Mr. Matson, "I've always wanted to play the organ, but thought it was too difficult to play. We intended to buy a piano, but when we found that the Baldwin was so easy to play and heard the full natural tones we decided to buy one. I've made it my hobby and find it relieves the tensions of the day. Matter of fact, our whole family now plays our Baldwin."

Mr. Matson, formerly Lt. Col. MSC U.S. Army, is now in administration at the Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Walnut Creek.

You may have a free home trial without obligation. Find out why so many people choose Baldwin.

Scheduled on May 23

Political candidates will have a chance to state their policies and plans May 23 at 8 p.m. in the Acalanes High School gymnasium as The Sun again presents its "Debate of the Issues."

All candidates for county and district offices have been invited to attend the public meeting. Each will have an opportunity to state his platform, make rebuttal to his opponent and then participate in a question and answer period.

Not only will candidates make their appearance before the audience but proponents and opponents of the park bonds will also express their views and back up their contentions.

Herman Silverman, publisher of The Sun, will open the meeting with an explanatory speech and then will introduce the various candidates.

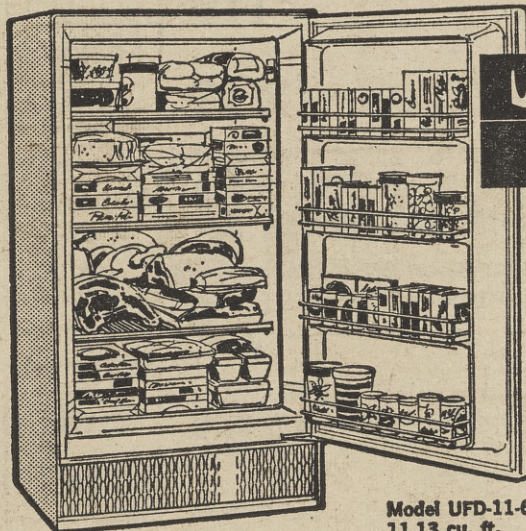

WITH TWO men battling for the Democratic nomination for congress, much of the attention is expected to be centered on that race. Chuck Weidner and Harold Mutnick are fighting for the nomination. The incumbent congressman and Republican candidate, John Baldwin, is unopposed.

With four men seeking the sheriff's nomination it will be one of the final events on the evening's public discussion period. Each of the quartet will have eight minutes to state his platform and then a two-minute question and answer period.

There are two candidates for supervisor and also two for the post of treasurer.

The Central Land Office and the Forest Service agreed in 1945 to let the former reassume its responsibilities for fire protection on the unreserved and unappropriated public domain.

THE LETTER proclaiming Realtor Week is signed by Walnut Creek Mayor Robert Nelson, seated, and witnessed by Ted Barcelon, Lafayette Real Estate Division chairman; Ray Isaacs, Concord division chairman, and Dick Jarrett, Orinda division chairman. Sun photos by Bob Rush.

A MULTI-LITH machine which speeds operations at the Contra Costa Real Estate Board offices, 1343 Locust Street, Walnut Creek, is examined by Supervisor Thomas Coll, Paul Burton, board treasurer; Bill Riggs, chairman of the board public works committee, and Lenard Grote, Pleasant Hill mayor, left to right.

Here's Some History On Real Estate Board

Mabel Anderson and Frank Marshall, realtor pioneer, were the first secretary and president respectively of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board in 1946.

A far cry from the modern offices and headquarters shared today, they worked in upstairs office space accommodations. Prior to this advent, D. D. Watson, "Cappy" Ricks, and Clark Anderson had served as presidents.

Clark T. Anderson, father of Past President William F. Anderson, had served the local community. Clark T. and William F. Anderson were the first father and son president combination to serve the local real estate board.

LAWRENCE Wallace, a member of the "MAI" is still an active member and was president in 1949. A. J. "Buck" Johnson was not content to serve the corporation as president in 1951, he was called upon again to head the 900-member organization as president in 1960.

Harlan Geldermann was president in 1952. R. E. Wadsworth of Orinda in 1953, and Arch McKinley in 1954.

Ben Hamlin, MAI and present member, was president in 1955; Barney Gilbert and J. H. "Nick" Carter, 1956 and 1957 respectively.

Allan Ingalls was president in 1958, followed by Bill Hayward, 1959, and Charles Bailey, 1961.

J. N. SMITH directs the present corporation that exercises influence into all phases of public interest, whether it be taxes, legislation, planning and zoning, local government or otherwise.

Members of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board are also affiliated with the California Real Estate Association and the National Association of Real Estate Brokers.

There are over 1400 real estate boards in the nation with 70,000 realtors.

All licensed real estate brokers are NOT realtors, but all realtors are licensed real estate brokers, according to J. N. Smith, president of the local real estate board.

"REALTORS are dedicated to public service. They contribute unselfishly their time and energies to make this community a better place in which to live," said Smith.

"Realtors 'Salute' the citizens of central Contra Costa County on this their 56th anniversary," he added.

Watch Dog Role Told By Anderson

Realtors are well known as entrepreneurs of free enterprise and watch dogs over legislation effecting taxes on real property, said Bill Anderson, local realtor and past president of the local real estate board.

Anderson is chairman of the statewide legislative committee this year. Assisting him at the local level is Frank Ladd, chairman of the legislative and taxation committee.

Each of the 170 real estate boards in California and the nation provide similar protection and service to the public.

"In this an off-legislative year, the committees have organized a legislative tree, concept, to reach down to the grass roots level," said Anderson.

"In addition to a chairman representing each real estate board, there is an intermediary

'Open House' Next Friday By Realtors

Realtors of Central Contra County have declared "open house" for the public to visit their modern board facilities next Friday from 1 to 5 p.m. at 1343 Locust Street, Walnut Creek.

Staged as part of the week-long celebration of Realtor Week, starting Monday, the public will be greeted by the public relations committee and will be escorted on a complete tour of the commercial and multiple listing department, administrative offices, library and board auditorium where continuous movies will be shown.

Visitors may witness the multiple listing service in operation and will have explained the purpose, functions, including public and member services to the community.

Career in Real Estate Boundless

If you are looking for an interesting, satisfying, and rewarding career, consider real estate's limitless opportunities, and your research may be over.

Undoubtedly, you are concerned about the future and want to get into a field which offers plenty of security. Real estate, already the nation's biggest business and destined to become bigger, could be the answer for you.

regional vice-president and district legislative representative to maintain liaison and coordinate state policy affecting real estate and the public interest.

Real Estate Board—What It Means

Real estate boards are non-profit corporations. Active membership consists of realtor or brokerage offices plus affiliate and associate memberships.

The latter includes firms that have a direct or indirect interest or relationship to the real estate industry.

The staff occupies the only salaried positions. The president and his officers, directors and committee chairmen serve without compensation. The staff administers to the business affairs of the corporation.

THE STAFF is the sustaining force behind the executive committee and board of directors in carrying out the policy established by the general membership and in accordance with the state and national associations.

It is the liaison element between the public and municipal government bodies with the community.

Services to the public and to its members are varied and many. In addition to a modern real estate library, local realtors have a modern office building complete with an auditorium. Standard contracts and forms peculiar to the industry are provided members.

Legal and legislative counsel at the local state and national level is another vital service to the public and to members.

The public is invited to visit the Contra Costa Real Estate Board on "Open House" day next Friday to view its facilities during Realtor Week.

Homestead Act Stamp Prompts Ceremonies

Presentation of Walnut Creek's first copies of a new U.S. postage stamp commemorating the 100th anniversary of the Homestead Act that spurred the widespread private ownership of property will mark the breakfast meeting of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board at the Elks Club, Monday according to J. N. Smith, president of the board.

Recipients of the specially mounted blocks of the new stamps—which is in the 4 cent denomination—from Postmaster Lawrence Bornholtz, will include the mayors of Concord, Pleasant Hill, and Walnut Creek; State Senator George Miller, and Assemblyman Jerome Waldie.

The new stamp is available for widespread distribution from the first time today.

THE CONTRA COSTA Real Estate Board, which is currently observing Realtor Week in conjunction with hundreds of other boards of the National Association of Real Estate Boards throughout the country, has designated Monday as "Homestead Day, Press and Education Day."

"We think it is singularly appropriate for realtors to take part with the Department of the Interior in marking the passage of the Homestead Act in 1862," Smith said.

"Virtually all historians have described the enactment of this legislation as a turning point in American history. Briefly, the act made it possible for thousands of citizens to establish homes and farms on public lands."

"The only requirement was five years of residence on the land to which they later acquired full title."

"With this act, the United States embarked on a new land policy—the attainment of the greatest possible diffusion of real property ownership among its citizens. Ever since 1862 the nation has remained faithful to this ideal, and I am glad to say, realtors have been in the front rank of those who espouse it in principle and deed."

SMITH ADDED that the preamble to the NAREB Code of Ethics to which every realtor is pledged states:

"Under all is the land. Upon its wise utilization and widely allocated ownership depend the survival and growth of free institutions and of our civilization."

"Largely as a result of the Homestead Act of 1862, many million acres of vacant land were transformed into homes and farms by the end of the last century," Smith recalled.

"As of today, more than six out of 10 families own their own homes, and many of the purchase transactions were completed through realtors."

Pledge Will Be Recited

Protection of the individual right of real estate ownership will be reaffirmed Monday by realtors of Contra Costa County and across the nation as they move into the second day of realtor week celebration.

Members of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board, in reciting the realtor's pledge at a meeting at the Elks Club, 8 a.m., will reiterate also their intention to observe the code of ethics of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, according to J. N. Smith, president of the 900-member corporation.

Realtors are members of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, which numbers over 70,000 members in more than 1400 real estate boards.

Ethics Court Is Essential To Realtors

"Of all the standing committees a real estate board may or may not have, one is essential. That is the Court of Ethics," said J. N. Smith, president of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board.

"It is sometimes referred to as the professional conduct, grievance or professional ethics committee."

"The Contra Costa Real Estate Board has two such committees to protect the public and member offices," said Smith.

To each is delegated the responsibility of enforcing the by-laws of the corporation and the national code of ethics that every realtor has taken an oath to uphold.

"THERE ARE three basic sections of the national code of ethics. One is a pledge to the public, another is relations to client and the third to his fellow realtor."

The court of ethics receive complaints from the public and/or member offices involving matters of a monetary nature that require adjudication.

"If a professional conduct committee is not provided for, then the code of ethics committee exercises jurisdiction," said Smith.

"The professional conduct committee of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board exercises jurisdiction with regard to matters other than monetary."

Gives Satisfaction

A real estate career is satisfying. You get a great sense of satisfaction out of helping people fill a fundamental need—shelter in the time-honored way of buying a home.

You get satisfaction, too, by developing and exchanging ideas with your associates in real estate.

You become part of the huge real estate family through membership in your local real estate board, which is a member of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Breakfast Will Honor Newspapers of Area

The Contra Costa Real Estate Board will honor area newspapers for their "outstanding service in keeping the public informed" on subjects of private property ownership.

Special citations will be presented to representatives of the news media by Bill Riggs, chairman public relation committee, at a breakfast Monday at the Walnut Creek Elks Club held as part of the national observance of realtor week, May 20-26.

Nearly 700 real estate boards across the country—members of the National Association of Real Estate Boards—are participating in the annual celebration.

"IT IS particularly fitting,"

Riggs said, "that the area news media which have cooperated with the board of realtors in promoting home ownership through accurate, competent coverage of real estate news should be cited this year."

"This is the centennial of the Homestead Act of 1862 which made private ownership of land a reality for thousands of American families," he noted.

"Since those days, home ownership has continually gained stature among the cherished freedoms which Americans enjoy, fostered greatly by newspapers and radio and television stations in providing the public with information on local and

The annual realtor week celebration will start Sunday, according to J. N. Smith, president of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board.

Bill Riggs will head this year's committee. The annual observance of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, of which the Central Contra Costa Real Estate Board is a member, will run throughout next week.

RIGGS IS sales manager of William F. Anderson, realtor. He will be assisted by John Bergamini, E. J. Carey, Gene Harney, Al Johnson, Talmadge Westmoreland and William Zepp.

According to Smith, realtors in Central Contra Costa will join with thousands of colleagues across the nation for the celebration, which is being held in conjunction with the 100th anniversary of the Homestead Act. "This act is one of the greatest single steps ever taken by a nation to make possible widespread real property ownership," said Riggs.

"The Homestead Act made available millions of acres of public land to private ownership and settlement."

"It was passed by congress on May 20, 1862, and led to one of the most colorful and important eras in the development of this country—the winning of the West and the settlement of a territory equal in extent to Great Britain and France combined," said Riggs.

REALTORS and other groups and associations are observing the event along with the United States Department of Interior.

A special U.S. commemorative postage stamp, which will be available on Monday, will be issued to mark the centennial.

Smith explained that the purpose of realtor week was to make better known to the public the services offered by realtors and to point up the differences between realtors and others in the real estate business.

"Realtors are members of the National Association of Real Estate Boards," he said, "and only they are entitled to use the term. We are subject to the rules and regulations of NAREB, observe the standards of conduct that it sets."

national real estate developments and trends."

Riggs credited the newspapers without keeping the public well informed of local housing news, and neighborhood facilities and utilities.

Modern Methods Used

Just as population explosion predicated a change from the country store to more up-to-date accommodations, so has the demand for modern methods of merchandising real estate changed.

To meet changing times and to keep pace with the market, real estate boards across the nation came up with their commercial and residential multiple listing service operation.

No longer could the three or four salesmen of a real estate brokerage firm service, adequately, the public demand for the purchase, exchange, management, investment and development of residential, income, commercial and industrial real estate.

REAL ESTATE boards pioneered the concept of cooperative merchandising of their products.

They inaugurated the system of "Multiple Listing" a property and thereby enhancing the sale by 100 and/or 1000 times, yet retaining the exclusive agency relationship of the seller.

It grew out of the logical concept that a lone, two, three or four manned real estate office was limited to the market it could reach within a reasonable overhead. Often times the public suffered because of the limited market, or more often than not, the real estate firm went bankrupt because of excessive advertising and overhead.

It is often said that "Multiple Listing Service" doesn't cost, it pays, both to the seller, buyer or investor.

FOR EXAMPLE, a property is exclusively listed with any one of the 192 realtor offices of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board. The principal and/or realtor may elect to place the property on Multiple Listing Service.

The property, complete with description, location, and conditional requirements with regard to financing, occupancy and other requirements are published to all 192 offices by the real estate board.

This permits over 700 salesmen, or combined forces of 900 brokers and salesmen, to match prospects whether they be from out of state, city or community.

This saves countless hours by the purchaser and by the various offices. All this at no additional cost to the purchaser.

When on "Multiple Listing Service" all members cooperate on the sale and the selling office shares the commission with the original listing office—the seller pays only one commission.

"Proof of the pudding" is recorded in the "Multiple Listing Service" sales records of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board. Sales have steadily increased by the cooperative or "Supermarket" method of merchandising real estate.

SALES volume has steadily increased since 1949 to over $36 million in 1961.

Percentage of cooperative sales, that is sales made by other than the exclusive agency listing office, have averaged approximately 50 per cent.

This indicates that 50 per cent more sales resulted, to the satisfaction of buyer and seller, than would have been the case without the advantage of the local real estate board and its multiple listing service.

The local board under the guidance of a "Multiple Listing Service" committee exercises strict rules and regulations designed to protect the public. It insists upon ethical practices and professional conduct in showing, marketing and transferring title to real property.

Only realtors offer the multiphasic advantages and services of a multiple listing service.
